SHIPS CRASH IN FOG, 80 PASSENGERS SAVED

FLOROE, Norway (UPI) — A passenger ship and a freighter collided in dense fog near here today and 80 persons were rescued in lifeboats. The tiny boats bobbed "like nutshells" in the fough seas but there was no loss of life, it was reported.

Death Toll Nears 300 In French Dam Disaster

Wall of Water Devastates Area

FREJUS, France (Reuters) — The death toll in one of Europe's worst flood disasters was set officially at 270 late today as rescue workers continued to recover bodies from the muddy devastation of this Riviera town.

Official figures issued in Paris said there also were 60 injured and about 50 missing. Millions of tons of water, banked up behind the 185-foot Malpasset dam by five days of heavy rain, churned into the peacefully sleeping farm valley Wednesday night, tearing away houses, hurling big trucks about like toys, uprooting trees, splintering telegraph and telephone poles and cutting all communications with the outside.

Not until the sombre dawn, hours after the Malpasset dam burst, was the full tragedy apparent.

'I'm Afraid Only Rocks Will Be Left'

"The valley was one of the richest on the coast," a member of the Frejus city council said. "I'm afraid, only rocks will be left."

The French government mobilized disaster forces and rushed the aircraft carrier Lafayette to the scene to serve as a floating hospital and helicopter base off the coast. Authorities invoked an emergency "calamity plan" allowing the requisitioning of all available means for relief and rescue work in the area. Troops, police and firemen rushed here from a wide area to carry out rescue work.

Terrified families were swept downstream, struggling to stay together. Many had just gone to bed when the flood struck. One 85-year-old woman floated seven hours on her bedroom dresser.

A doctor at Frejus hospital said the torrent "was worse than any tidal wave — the water surged over houses, pulverizing them."

Rescue workers in rubber boats tried to reach isolated houses and bring the injured and stick to shelter.

Agonized Cries Heard During Night

Agonized cries for help were heard throughout the night, but no help was immediately available for the villages upstream.

It took many hours to get the first rescue teams there, and the weary rescuers found many people missing and survivors often wandering in dazed silence.

Frejus was without electricity, running water, gas or telephone service. The town about four miles below the Malpasset Dam, suffered less than the isolated villages up the valley. It was feared no houses were left standing along the upper reaches of the river.

The wall of water was six feet high when it reached the town. Upstream it may have

TEAMSTERS TO IGNORE MOST PICKET LINES

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa says teamsters union members in the future will ignore with one exception—all picket lines set up by other unions.

"All teamsters locals will have orders," Hoffa, teamsters president, told reporters Wednesday, "to drive through recognition, organizational and primary picket lines."

"The teamsters will make an exception on primary picket lines if the striking union will guarantee the teamsters against any possible loss through lawsuits, government action or any other expense incurred by the teamsters."

A primary strike is one called by a union recognized under law as the collective bargaining agent for workers at a specified company.

(See Story, Page 21)

Mayor Percy Scurrah and Police Chief John Blackstock today took strong exception to the super sonic explosion Wednesday night believed caused by U.S. jet aircraft.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he would protest to Defence Minister George Pearkes. He received an irate letter this morning from a patient at the Veterans' Hospital.

"I certainly will make a protest to Defence Minister Pearkes to see if this can be prevented in future," he said. "There's lots of country or ocean that they could fly over instead of our cities."

"Travelling at about 11 miles a minute, it would only take them seconds to veer over water in order to avoid this city," the mayor said.

The letter to the mayor was from two-war veteran T. Anderson, who said there was "no valid reason" for American aircraft breaking the sound barrier over Canadian cities.

"I'm still shaking," he wrote. Chief Blackstock thinks police should be warned in advance of proposed jet plane exercises over Victoria.

He said prior notification would assist police in handling inquiries and ease their minds.

Wednesday night's sonic boom resulted in a deluge of queries at the police station, tying up three telephone lines for about a half hour.

Chief Blackstock said he himself was unable to get through to the police charge office for 15 minutes.

He cautioned citizens to refrain from telephoning the police station immediately after hearing such an explosion.

"In a real emergency the police would be swamped, unable to get distress calls or call out for additional men to handle a situation," he said.

Airmen Rebel

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — A small group of air force officers declared themselves in a "state of insurrection" today and called on the rest of the armed forces to oust the government of President Juscelino Kubitschek.

The dissident group stole three air force planes from Rio Janeiro and hijacked a civilian airliner with 38 passengers aboard and forced it to land north of the Amazon.

Most of the rebellious group were arrested as the government put the army on full alert and reacted swiftly.

TARGET $15,000

Korea Campaign Kickoff Tonight

This forlorn little Chinese refugee boy at right is one of 25,000 in Hong Kong supplied Canadian milk by the Unitarian Service Committee, whose executive director, Dr. Lella Hirschmanova, dresses a public gathering at 8 tonight in Oak Bay Junior High School.

This will be the start of the annual appeal through The Times on behalf of vital USC work in foreign countries. Objective is $15,000 from Greater Victoria for construction of a rehabilitation centre in Seoul, Korea, for war-crippled children.

Handicraft work of the 150 disabled children in the Sam Yook home will be shown at the meeting.

Dr. Hirschmanova's address will be entitled "The Magic Keys," and she will also show a film she took herself in Korea and India dealing with refugee work.

2 PLANES COULD MAKE ALASKA BASES USELESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of Alaska's defences was quoted today as saying that "as things now stand, it would take only two enemy bombers to put Alaskan bases out of action."

Flying Magazine, a trade publication, quoted Lt.-Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr., commander of Alaska's joint services defence force, as adding: "If these attacks were followed up with paratroop landings, Alaska itself would be lost."

"With Russians in the Fairbanks and Anchorage areas, President Eisenhower would have to decide quickly whether to bomb Alaska or leave the rest of the country open to close-range attack from Red troops along the Yukon."

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Wheat Demand Grows Rapidly

This is the fifth in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

For western Canadian farmers the largest commercial fact in Japan is that 10 million school children eat a free lunch every day and it always includes a generous chunk of bread made from Canadian wheat.

Those youngsters, besides millions of adults, have acquired a taste for bread in place of rice, Japan's traditional basic food. As they grow up they will continue to eat bread and feed it to their children. While rice will remain a basic food, the market for Canadian wheat in Japan, already large, will continue to grow—provided Canada buys abundantly from

Japan and gives it a fair chance to earn Canadian dollars.

In the first nine months of this year Japan, our second wheat market, next to Britain, paid $54.5 millions to Canadian growers. Of the $130 millions worth of products we expect to sell in Japan by the year's end about half will be wheat.

Adding flour, seeds of various kinds, cattle hides, grease and tallow, our agricultural sales to Japan in the first three quarters of the year totalled about $70 millions.

TRUCK SKIDS INTO BUS, 3 GIRLS DIE

ROLPHTON, Ont. (UPI) — Three girls were crushed to death today when a jack-knifing tractor-trailer swept across a slush-covered highway and pinned them against a school bus.

Police said the girls had just left the bus and were about to cross Highway 17 to enter the Meilleurs Bay schoolhouse when the truck driver spotted the stopped vehicle. He tried to stop his heavy truck, but it banged into the rear of the bus and then toppled onto the girls who were standing nearby.

The victims were Sheila and April Dakin, aged nine and six respectively, and nine-year-old Mildred Elliott, all of Chalk River, Ont.

Phony Art Masterpiece Ring Broken

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police broke up what was described as one of the biggest fake masterpiece rackets in the nation's history today by arresting two Russian-born art dealers and seizing 400 paintings with signatures ranging from Rembrandt to Picasso.

The arrested men, Boris Lass, 64, and his brother, Mark, 61, claimed the collection was gathered by their mother before the Russian revolution and had a current value of $25,000,000. Experts from the Metropolitan and Modern Art Museums called in by District Attorney Frank Hogan said they were fakes, apparently the work of students imitating old and modern masters.

The Lasses, proprietors of the Remi Gallery in the heart of the Madison Avenue gallery district, were charged in a 25-count indictment with attempted grand larceny, counterfeiting labels, and false and misleading advertising. Authorities said they did not know how many "masterpieces" the men had been able to sell.

If we'd get rid o' th' soreheads we wouldn't need warheads.

CBS BANS FREE PLUGS ON TELEVISION SHOWS

NEW YORK (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, the Columbia Broadcasting System will eliminate from television shows commercials advertising products other than the sponsor's.

The latest CBS cleanup move strikes at a little-publicized but profitable practice of charging manufacturers for having their products used as show prizes.

Also barred are free plugs for airlines and other transportation facilities.

But as they assured me at Japan's largest flour mill, beside Yokohama harbor, the Japanese market for Canadian wheat is only in its first stage of development and can be expanded indefinitely, if Japan can earn enough dollars to pay for larger imports.

The manager of the mill, an expert who had travelled the world and inspected Canadian crops in the growing season, paused before a glass sample case and pointed to its golden contents.

"Canadian wheat," he said, "is the best on earth. There is no substitute."

Japan imports large quantities of soft and semi-hard wheat from the United States—exports usually subsidized by the American government—but little of it is used in bread flour.

Bread sold to the Japanese

Purchases Limited By Government

The flour milling industry would import still more Canadian wheat to satisfy a growing appetite for bread if it could secure the necessary foreign exchange.

Its purchases are strictly limited, however, by the government which, through its central food agency, buys all foreign wheat and sells it to the millers at a profit, or hidden tax, of nearly 25 per cent.

These imports are fixed in advance under the government's semi-annual foreign exchange budget, a system of control designed to protect the nation's precious supplies of hard currencies.

While wheat imports from hard-currency countries like Canada are definitely limited consumer by the commercial bakeries is made almost entirely of Canadian wheat because it is the best. The huge baking industry, which makes virtually all bread sold in Japan (the housewife has no oven), is determined to turn out the highest possible product and thus increase the public taste for it.

Obviously the baking industry has made remarkable progress. The use of wheat in Japan has increased threefold since the last war, with imports running currently at the rate of about 2,300,000 tons a year, of which about 900,000 tons will come from Canada.

Every year wheat consumption rises between 3 and 5 per cent. Before the war 50 per cent of all flour was used to make noodles, 30 per cent in bread and the rest in confectionery.

Now bread requires 40 per cent of all flour, and noodles about the same.

they must increase, the millers told me, to satisfy not only the present appetite for bread but an appetite which will grow for two reasons.

First, the existing Japanese population of about 92,000,000 will demand more bread; second, the population will rise by about 15,000,000 in the next generation before it levels off as a result of systematic birth control and wholesale, legal abortion.

So far as the Canadian grain farmer is concerned, everything will depend on Japan's supplies of dollars. They can be earned only by sales in the dollar area, and at present, as in all recent years, Japan has suffered a heavy trade deficit in the Canadian market.

Money Spent Returned With Interest

Every dollar we spend in Japan, and more, returns to us in the form of Japanese purchases, half of them for wheat.

But Japan is not bound to buy wheat here. If it is pressed for dollars it can buy almost as good wheat as ours from Russia (though the cost of shipping would be higher), it can import more semi-hard United States wheat and softer Australian wheat, as the Australian Government hopes and plans, if the quality of Japanese bread is slightly debased.

Canada's problem is not to prove the quality of its wheat, already recognized in Japan as the best, but to make sure that Japan has enough dollars to buy it in ever-increasing volume.

As Japan earns more dollars

Bumper Rice Crop Taken As Normal

These bumper crops, their price supported by the state, are now accepted as normal—the result of a rapid improvement in growing methods, the massive use of fertilizers, the mechanization of the two-acre farms with tiny hand tractors, threshing machines and irrigation pumps, and the work of experimental farms, one of which I inspected on the great Tokyo Plain.

A nation geographically smaller than California actually produces about 80 per cent of its own food, including 1,200,000 tons of soft wheat grown in the winter months on the summer rice paddies.

A rising population will require more imported foods, mainly wheat, and the wheat will come mainly from the nations like Canada where Japan can sell its manufactured goods. More than any other Canadian, the farmer has a vital stake in Japanese imports.

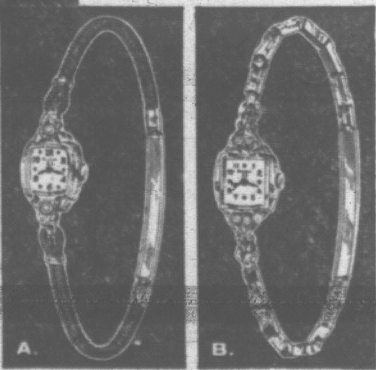

As the manager of the nation's largest milling company told me: "Buy from Japan and we'll buy more and more Canadian wheat—the best on earth."

DAM PEOPLE SWEEP AWAY AS THEY SLEPT

towered 40 feet in narrow stretches of the valley.

The dam spillways were opened wider only Wednesday after a helicopter survey warned engineers of impending danger. But at 9:45 p.m. the dam burst.

At the time of its construction in 1952-53 the gently curving concrete irrigation dam was the thinnest in the world, measuring only 22 feet at its thickest.

District Governor Jean-Charles Roulles reported that the dam had been completely swept away.

"Nothing remains," Roulles said. The dam had been inspected only a few months ago to find out if it could withstand the explosions which were going on at nearby construction work. Everything was declared normal.

The dam caretaker said that three hours after he opened the floodgates he heard "a terrible cracking" sound, and immediately the dam collapsed.

Bridges along the normally peaceful river were carried away. The naval base at St. Raphael was under several feet of water.

The scene for miles along the Mediterranean shore was desolate. The same storms lashed the coasts of Italy, the Greek Islands and North Africa.

SHOPS SHATTERED

Sand lay heaped along the famed English promenade in Nice. Fashionable seaside restaurants were shattered by waves.

Firemen paddled rubber boats into the cellars of a gambling casino to salvage thousands of bottles of wines.

At least half the damage was counted at Antibes, where villas undermined by giant waves partially collapsed and part of the sea coast road was washed away. One casualty was the luxurious villa of American movie magnate Jack Warner.

'A Town That Has Been Bombed Out'

By ROBERT AHIER

FREJUS (UPI)—This is a village of water, muck, mud, death, destruction, tears and frenzy.

The water, the muck, the mud are everywhere. Wreckage is everywhere. The tears are in the eyes of the many who have lost loved ones, whole families.

The frenzy is in the hearts of those still-seeking fathers, wives, sons, babies, friends.

Frejus looks like a town that has been bombed out. Half of this pleasant Riviera village of 14,000 was washed away.

Washed away... two words and lifetimes of work and love destroyed in the night, while most of Frejus' people slept. Many of the dead are children, killed as they lay asleep just before midnight.

The people tell you the water

came from the broken dam with a roar like an army of tanks, or a low-flying armada of heavy bombing planes.

The water swept up and carried along almost everything in its path, something like a bulldozer that had a blade eight yards high. Beds with people in them. Cribs with babies. Walls, furniture, and in the surrounding farmland, cattle and fences.

Houses caught by the full force of the water crumbled like sand castles washed by seaside waves.

Here lies a truck, tossed like a splinter on the shoulder of a road five yards above the right-of-way. A small sedan is perched in a tree.

Uprooted trees lie everywhere. Last night these trees were murderous battering rams, smashing people and houses, puncturing stone walls.

Someone tells—pointing about the woman who lived on the second floor of that stone house.

The Saltvik, under tow from harbor tugs, was the last foreign ship of the season to enter the canal system at Kingston, Ont. before the western entrance of the seaway was closed Tuesday night.

There she stayed, whimpering, through the night. Tomorrow morning firemen carried her down.

Ironically, today, the sea bathes Frejus from a cloudy "Riviera-Blue" sky after a week of torrential rains.

IKE TAKES OFF TONIGHT TO OPEN TOUR AT ROME

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower sets off tonight on a 19-day round-the-globe tour to convince the world that the United States sincerely wants peace.

The presidential party of 21 persons, travelling by military air transport jetliner, will take off from Andrews air force base about 5 p.m. PST.

It's due in Rome at noon, Italian time, Friday after a refuelling stop tonight at Goose Bay, Labrador.

Railway Sparks Top Fire Cause

Railways in British Columbia were to blame for most of the forest fires this year—31 per cent of the total.

Incendiarism and unknown causes were responsible for 8.6 per cent; campers and travellers 8.6 per cent; lightning 9.2 per cent; forest industries 10.2 per cent; smokers 10.5 per cent; miscellaneous 22 per cent.

A forestry department spokesman Tuesday pointed out, however, the statistics are misleading. Railways cause about the same number of fires each year (624 in 1959), but surged into first place this year percentage-wise because lightning fires were unusually rare.

How do railways cause fires now that diesel engines have replaced the hand-fired sparkers of years ago? The main cause is brake shoes. B.C.'s mountain grades mean brakes are applied often. They get hot and, red-hot chips of metal fly into the trackside brush.

Another cause—little flocks of car-birds cling to the walls of the diesel exhaust system. A throttle is suddenly opened and the carbon heats up and flies as glowing sparks into the nearby brush.

LITTLE DAMAGE

But railway fires have an easy access for fire fighters, they are quickly spotted, and little damage results in comparison to the fires created in remote areas by lightning or wandering campers.

This year lightning caused only 184 fires but they laid waste to 93,754 acres of timber—over a third of the total lost. The average lightning fire cost $1,000 and covered 510 acres. The average fire of other cause cost $322 and covered 98 acres.

The number of fires caused by smokers, campers and travellers was up slightly this year from 1958 but still was greatly reduced from the average of recent years. It was felt the average person is being more careful.

In all, it cost the government $768,000 to fight 2010 forest fires and the forest industries are thought to have spent an additional $99,000. This is little compared to the 1958 disaster year when $5,500,000 was spent in fire-fighting.

But lump the 1959 cost of fighting fire with the $2,212,418 in lost timber and it's still a staggering waste and should be a concern to everyone who lives in B.C., the forestry official stated.

Jamaica Housing Plan

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain is to invest $3,000,000 in a new housing scheme in Kingston, Jamaica, it was announced Wednesday. Colonial Development Corporation and Sceptre Trust Limited of Nassau will develop about 400 acres of land overlooking Kingston harbor.

WHY BIRTH CONTROL FACTS WITHHELD

Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the World Health Organization, claims President Eisenhower was "swayed by religious pressures" in opposing the giving of birth control advice to other nations.

"It is getting close to an election year," Dr. Chisholm said Wednesday, "and one can not expect an objective attitude about such things."

Dr. Chisholm, now living in retirement at Sooke and a prominent lecturer on birth control, health and food problems, said the president's attitude has apparently "killed" the recommendations of a committee studying the foreign aid program.

The committee had recommended that the U.S. give advice to other nations who requested it on methods of preventing over-population.

VIEWS COLORED

Dr. Chisholm said that with the beginning of the U.S. election year "anything said by any politician has to be considered in that light. If such a recommendation had been made two years ago, or had not been made until next year, it would certainly have a better chance of being considered."

He added that "Eisenhower is under the kind of religious pressure where he has to think in this manner."

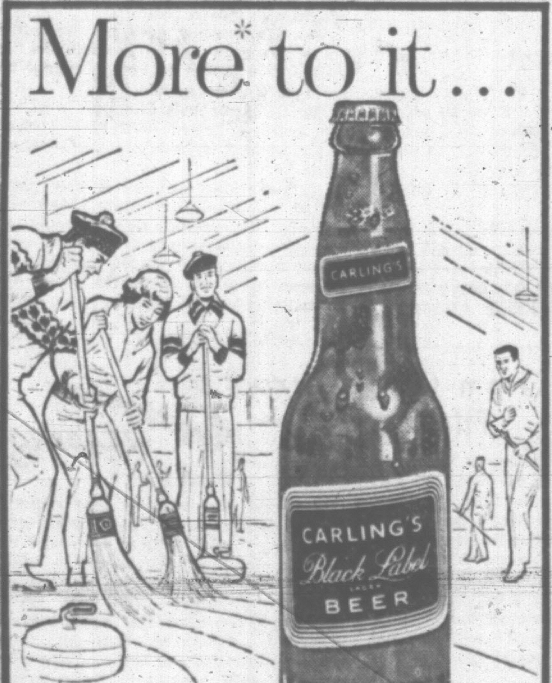

Dr. Chisholm noted that the president told his recent Washington press conference that the subject had "religious aspects."

Meanwhile, the former WHO had run into opposition from Most Rev. W. M. Duke, Roman Catholic archbishop of Vancouver.

CHURCH SOLUTION

The archbishop, commenting on a statement by Dr. Chisholm that the church should abandon its belief that God will feed the world and should remove its artificial birth control ban, said the church's solution to over-population was "to feed the hungry."

WHILE ALLIES BUILD 7 MISSILE STATIONS

100 Red Bases Ring Europe

LONDON, Dec. 3 (UPI) — Russia has upwards of 100 missile bases, manned by 200,000 troops, arrayed against the seven rocket-launching stations now being built by the Allies today.

The Institute of Strategic Studies, a privately-financed group sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundations, said the Soviet bases dot the landscape all over Western Russia and Communist East Germany, ranging from the Baltic to the White Sea and from the Soviet Ukraine to Thuringia in Germany.

Against this massive build-up, the institute said, the Allies can pit four bases in Britain, two being constructed in Italy and one planned in Turkey. The Allied bases are designed to launch Thor or Jupiter missiles with a range of about 1,500 miles.

EMBEZZLER — Richard Gale, 35, former Australian commando and businessman, sits glumly in the San Francisco police station after being arrested on charges of embezzling an estimated $2,000,000. Gale had operated a collection agency in Sydney, Australia, and skipped with the funds belonging to large business firms.

Gyro Swim Pool For Cadboro Bay, Three-Year Job

The proposed $100,000 Cadboro Bay swimming pool will take about three years before completion, a Victoria Gyro Club official said Wednesday.

J. A. Pollard, past president, said the project, announced earlier this year, is "still definitely alive" and that club officials are now discussing methods of raising the money.

The pool will be built near the Cadboro-Gyro Park, and will be so designed that it can be filled with either fresh or salt water.

AFTER OFFICIAL QUILTS

Appeal to CLC In Union Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor has been asked to insure justice is done in an ironworkers union trial in which three leaders of the union are charged with conducting an unauthorized strike.

The trial of the leaders of Local 97 of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers (CLC) is reported to have become a "cause celebre" in B.C. labor circles.

The men, business agents Norman Eddison and Thomas McGrath and local president Fernand Whitmore, led the union in a strike against several large B.C. construction projects, including the $23,000,000 Second Narrows bridge here.

The international headquarters in St. Louis said it did not authorize the strike and international officers are trying to get the men back to work.

Eddison quit after the trial committee refused to permit Pat O'Neal, secretary of the 120,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) to testify in his defence.

O'Neal said Wednesday night he wired the CLC "to insure that everyone is satisfied that justice is being done and that a full comprehensive report of the affair be prepared for the congress by the regional director of the CLC."

Eddison, McGrath and Whitmore were found guilty of contempt of court by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson during the strike. The conviction was quashed in the B.C. Court of Appeal.

Farmers Ask Halt On Loss-Leader Poultry Sales

B.C. farmers at their annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture here Wednesday requested the provincial government to stop the use of agricultural products as loss leaders in chain stores.

Jack Wood of Hammond, who operates one of the largest turkey farms in the province, said the use of poultry as loss leaders had resulted in depressing the price on birds.

"The chain stores are jockeying us into a position where we have to sell our birds at a loss," he charged. "Some poultrymen are unable to make a living as the result of cut-throat tactics."

There was no official reaction here to the institute report, for the British refuse to comment on private surveys.

The institute said the Russians have missiles of five types: the intercontinental T-3, with a range of 5,000 miles; the intermediate T-4 and T-2, with ranges of 1,000 and 1,600 miles respectively; the Komet, a 95-mile missile designed to be fired from a submerged submarine, and the Golem, a 300-mile missile to be fired by submarines on the surface.

The Soviet missile array spearheads a force of 3,900,000 men under arms, with 3,100,000 more first-line reserves, the institute said.

It estimated that Russia's major weapons include 1,200 jet or turboprop intercontinental bombers, 35,000 tanks and atomic field guns with ranges between 12 and 20 miles.

DENNY'S OF VICTORIA

Canada, 1959

CLARA, still half-asleep and in her housecoat, put the coffee pot on the table in the breakfast nook and called to Bill to hurry up if he didn't want to be late.

"Why trade a headache for an upset stomach?" asked a disembodied voice on the radio.

Clara snapped it off and put the cereal packet by Bill's plate.

"Why'd you get this kind?" asked Bill, appearing, tousled, and in not too sweet a mood.

"For the little plastic men inside," said Clara.

"What little plastic men?"

"Really, Bill," said Clara. "You live in a world of your own. They're moon-men, dear; and if you put them in a jar of water and add baking soda to the water, they bounce up and down."

"And if you haven't any baking soda?"

"Then you go out and buy some. It's the kids, dear," Clara said wearily. "All the kids in Bobby's room at school have these moon-men. It tells them on the package, 'Hurry, hurry, gang, it says: See who can be first to get the whole collection. Twenty-two different models of these exciting moon-men. Be the first to venture into outer space and see the far side of the moon.' Aren't kids cute?"

"Not that I'd noticed," said Bill. "I'm going to shave. I can't eat any more of this. Even chickens wouldn't eat it."

"Chickens don't want to play moon-men," said Clara, with what seemed logic to her sleep-befuddled mind.

Ruth

"What's the idea of changing to this kind of shaving cream?" asked Bill, reappearing a moment later.

"It's new and blue," said Clara, quoting absent-mindedly.

"That's soapflakes. I do know that, though what being new and blue has to do with quality, I couldn't tell you."

"Okay. It's green and fluoridated with chlorophyll," Clara snapped.

"That's toothpaste and a lot of nonsense," Bill retorted. "You haven't answered my question yet. Why this kind of shaving cream? You know it's the worst kind on the market."

"It had a dandelion-puller tied to it. A free gift, you know."

"You mean I'm to yank my whiskers out with a dandelion-puller from now on?"

Clara sighed. "Bill, you're being very difficult. Have things been tough at the office lately?"

"Not half as tough as they are round here. Where's the dandelion-puller now?"

"The kids were trying it out, and broke it. Bill, Bill, don't carry on like that. It wasn't any good, anyway."

But, by this time, Bill was in the car and backing madly down the drive.

"Bill, be careful," Clara screamed.

"I'm joining the astronauts," Bill shouted back. "I'll fly to the kids. Daddy's going to be a moon-man because he can't face 22 boxes of that breakfast food."

SOVIET 'HURRICANE' IN TRADE COMING-PM

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker warned Canadians Wednesday that "we must keep our house in order" to be able to survive a massive economic threat from the Soviet Union.

Diefenbaker told the closing banquet of the two-day annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association that Russia already has launched an economic attack of "hurricane proportions."

He said that labor and management must "show reason and restraint" in seeking higher wages and higher profits, if Canada's export trade and economic strength were to survive.

A Receding Chin

and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Many persons are very unhappy because they have almost no chin. The other day I was talking to a fine, able attorney who told me that before he got his chin enlarged by a skillful surgeon he had been very unhappy. He had found it very difficult to address juries because, when he got up to talk, about all he could think of was his undeveloped chin. Now, with a good strong chin, he is happy; he feels secure, and he has lost his old inferiority complex.

Alvarez

I was just reading an article by Dr. John B. Erich, of the Mayo Clinic, who makes normal chins for people by taking some bone from the front of their ilium (hip bone) and getting it to stick to the front of their mandible, or lower jaw. Some of the most unhappy young women whom he has had to help had a mouse-like jaw. The bone taken from the hip is ground up into a pulp, which is injected through a little cut made under the chin. When in the proper place, it is molded into shape by the operator's fingers. Within 10 days or so, the bone had formed a solid mass which corrects the deformity.

I often think how unwise it is for people to go through life with a deformity which distresses them every day. They ought early to start saving every cent they can put by, so that soon they can have the operation. I just received a letter from a girl who thinks her nose is terribly ugly. Because of this, she just sits on the side-lines of life, and avoids meeting people. She is getting more and more lonely, more and more unhappy, and more and more mixed-up in her attitudes towards life. I suspect that her nose is not as awful as she thinks it is and I am sure that if the girl were merry and friendly and fond of people, they would like her a lot even if she has a big nose. They wouldn't care about her nose. She doubtless is abnormally self-conscious. But since she feels as strongly as she does, she ought to be operated on as soon as possible. A change in her nose could open a new world of happiness to her.

There is good news for young people with rheumatic fever. Dr. Alvin R. Feinstein and his associates in New York have just reported on what actually happened to 168 patients with rheumatic heart disease who were taken care of for an average of 21 years after they had an attack of rheumatic fever.

One thing the doctors learned was that, after a child recovers, there is no advantage in keeping him very quiet; this isn't essential. Good news came also from Dr. Gene H. Stollerman, of Chicago, who reported that a study of 285 adolescents and adults showed that, after a child has had rheumatic fever and has grown up, he rarely shows his old childhood tendency to get those infections which used to cause the flare-ups of trouble in his heart. He becomes largely immune to such infections.

Mills Doing Best To Abate Smoke Says Petitioner

D. M. Malcolm, who led a petition earlier this year for stricter smoke controls by the council, Tuesday said four mills are doing all they can to overcome the problem.

Mr. Malcolm is a member of the city's smoke abatement advisory committee which toured the mills. He said "you would have to interfere with industry unduly to do anything more about it at the present time."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, another committee member, said the long-range hope is that an increasing number of wood by-products will be developed so that the amount of waste burned by the mills will be reduced.

and rain will reach the north coast Friday morning and spread to the lower mainland by afternoon.

Mailmen Group Votes

Strike for Pay Boost

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton letter carriers have voted in favor of a work stoppage if necessary to back up demands for an increase in salary.

A spokesman said no stoppage is planned locally at this time. The result of the ballot will be made available to the FALC national office if and when a country-wide vote is taken among postal employees.

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova's lecture will launch the Times "Korean Crippled Kiddies' Fund" Christmas appeal. Chairman: Mr. Stuart Keate, Publisher of the Victoria Daily Times.

Seating is fairly limited. Those planning to attend should arrange to arrive as early as possible, as a capacity audience is expected.

The lecture will include a 15-minute, 16-mm. sound movie of the work being done to rehabilitate the area served by this dynamic one-woman relief organization which supplies milk, layettes, equipment, clothing and other necessities to the children in Korea, India and war-torn areas in the east.

Representing the City of Victoria, Mayor Percy Scurrell will welcome Dr. Hitschmanova on behalf of the community.

SAUVE HEEDS OPPOSITION

'New Look' in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Paul Sauve has led his Union Nationale party to agreement with the Liberal opposition on two controversial matters.

The result, Sauve announced in the legislative assembly and a feeling of accomplishment for Liberal opposition led by Georges Lapalme, who made the two proposals.

The first item, a bill introduced by Mr. Lapalme, would bar the Speaker from holding directorships in companies.

The second, a motion by the opposition leader, suggested the government consider the opportunity of setting up a Hansard to record legislative debates.

Both received unanimous approval while government members—in strong majority—and opposition benchers smiled and thumped their desks in unison.

Mr. Sauve had other surprises for the opposition when Rene Hamel, Liberal member for St. Maurice, proposed the government consider building a bridge across the St. Lawrence at Trois-Rivieres, the premier said he had already asked public works engineers to look into the matter.

The premier also gave notice he will introduce a bill concerning the Territorial Division Act—a measure likely to touch on electoral districts of the province with a view to giving residents in the Ungava mining town of Schefferville a vote.

TAXED WITHOUT VOTE

The town is not large—its population in 1956 was 1,632—but residents have been taxed because they pay taxes but cannot vote.

It is located near the controversial Quebec-Newfoundland boundary. Government sources say the late Premier Duplessis—who died last summer in Schefferville—was wary of including it in any electoral district because he feared that setting territorial limits in the area would hinder definite settlement of the boundary controversy.

$15,000 Prisoner 'Saved' By Reformers for Only $56

The John Howard Society befriended 332 Greater Victoria prisoners during the past year and received $13,496 from the Community Chest.

This was revealed today by Murray B. Gaw, newly-appointed executive secretary of the John Howard Society of Vancouver Island.

The society receives about five cents out of every dollar raised by the Community Chest.

But, as Mr. Gaw pointed out, the society saves the taxpayer thousands of dollars by helping ex-prisoners to stay out of jail.

For example, one hardened offender cost the taxpayer a total of $15,610 in prison costs before he was rehabilitated by the John Howard Society.

The society spent only $56 in time and service reforming him and he is now a respected citizen running his own business and taking part in community affairs.

MURRAY B. GAW
John Howard chief

Mr. Gaw estimates that the cost of keeping one man in jail for a year averages out at about $2,100.

A graduate in sociology from the University of Toronto, Mr. Gaw, worked with the John Howard Society in Ontario for five years and spent two years at the juvenile training school at Cobourg, Ont.

He is married to the former Donna Meldrum of Penticton, also a social worker, and they have three children.

Mr. Gaw's office is at 1951 Cook Street.

The John Howard Society of Vancouver Island, founded here in 1936, looks after both men and women prisoners, in Vancouver and other parts of Canada. Women prisoners are taken care of by the Elizabeth Fry Society, a sister organization.

The movement was named after the 18th century prison reformer John Howard.

SUSPECT IN MASS MURDER DENIES GUILT

'Why Should I Hurt Them?'

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—"I just didn't do it, that's all." So said Robert Raymond Cook, 23, when asked by RCMP if he had any statement to make after being charged with the murder of his father.

The statement was admitted as evidence Wednesday in the Supreme Court trial of Cook, charged June 29 with the murder of his 53-year-old father, Raymond.

Cook's body was found June

23 in a makeshift grease pit behind his home in Stettler. The bodies of his second wife and their five young children were also found in the pit, covered with bags, junk and automobile tires. All the victims had been shot and bludgeoned.

"DIDN'T DO IT"

RCMP Staff Sgt. D. H. Beeching said he asked Cook if he had anything to say about the charge and that the suspect answered:

"I just didn't do it, that's all. That's all I've got in the world. What would you think I want to hurt them for?"

RCMP earlier, on June 27, had questioned Cook about the whereabouts of his parents and their children. He told them they had gone to British Columbia to buy a garage business.

He said he gave his parents about $4,300. No trace of the money was found when police searched the cook home. He told RCMP he got the money from break-ins.

AN EXTENSION PHONE!

Just about the nicest gift any husband ever thought of

And just about the nicest gift any wife or family ever received. It's different, exciting and its pleasure increases every day. And it's so easy to give an extension phone. You can pick up a gift-boxed phone at the Telephone Company, already to put under the tree. Or, for Christmas secrecy, have it delivered to your office. The extension phone will be installed, free of charge, shortly after Christmas.

How to give an Extension Phone for Christmas:

The only charge is for regular telephone service, each month — $1.25 (free installation). One of the attractive features of this gift of service is that you may give it for as long a period as you wish. Many people give it for 1 year. This would come to $15.00. You may pre-pay this or have the $1.25 added to your own telephone bill each month. An especially lovely gift is a coloured extension phone. To give this, there is an additional one-time charge of $12.00. This may also be paid by installment charges on your own telephone bill.

DEBATE TURNED DOWN BY DOCTORS, DENTISTS

A challenge by Dr. F. B. Exner, Seattle radiologist and anti-fluoridationist, will go unanswered as a result of decisions by Victoria Medical Society and Victoria Dental Association Wednesday.

Dr. Exner issued the challenge for a public debate on fluoridation to Victoria advocates Dr. Hugh Borsman, Dr. W. W. McLuhan and Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer.

But the two associations refused to give their permission to the local doctors to accept the challenge because "a debate would serve no useful purpose at this time," a joint statement said.

BOTH SIDES EXAGGERATED—CLARK

City Labor Council Backs Fluoridation

After hearing a Victoria College professor state that both the pro and con sides in the current fluoridation issue had "published direct falsehoods," Victoria Labor Council Wednesday voted overwhelmingly in favor of fluoridation.

L. J. Clark, head of the college chemistry department, said "it is unfortunate that workers both for and against fluoridation have been guilty of exaggeration. Perhaps I could go so far as to say they have published direct falsehoods."

Mr. Clark, assisted by W. G. Fields, biology department head, prepared an "impartial" study on request of the VLC.

The chemistry professor said it was not possible for a scientist to debate the issue with "people who are emotionally blinded by one stand or another. All the scientist can offer is a sober appraisal of facts which does not usually go down very well with an audience."

Mr. Fields said there was very great value in having a certain amount of fluoride in the water supply, and that it had been amply demonstrated that tooth cavities had been reduced about 60 per cent.

RCN Sailor Drowned

ANTWERP, Belgium (Reuters)—The body of Wilfred Brouillette, a sailor from the Canadian destroyer Sioux, was retrieved from the River Scheldt in Antwerp port early Wednesday, police said.—The Canadian sailor was believed to have slipped and fallen into the water Tuesday night.

John D. 'Inadequate'

OTTAWA (CP)—Norman Baker, a disgruntled Progressive Conservative, from New Westminster, B.C., sounded the only sour note at the party's association's general meeting here with a blast against government policy and Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He told reporters Mr. Diefenbaker is giving inadequate leadership and said American investment is turning Canada into "a sort of Cuba, with hockey players."

"I call it planned poverty for Canadians," Mr. Baker, a party member but not an official delegate, tried to precipitate a debate at the convention's closing session Wednesday on a package of resolutions presented by the resolutions committee.

Mr. Baker opposed a motion that all the resolutions be adopted as read, and explained he wanted them discussed one by one. Committee chairman Leon Ladner had offered to hear detailed debate but no one accepted the opportunity and the resolutions were promptly adopted.

Afterwards, Mr. Baker, who described himself as a small housing contractor, unloaded his beefs to reporters.

Referring to one resolution declaring "dedication" to the vision of an ever greater and more prosperous Canada, Mr. Baker said "vision has sometimes been described as hallucinations here in Ottawa."

Government actions had been incompatible with its promises.

Asked whether Mr. Diefenbaker should be leader, he said: "I don't think it is a matter of personality. It is a matter of inadequacy."

Alcan Jumps Production

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Holders of Aluminium Ltd. stock who have watched it bounce between $28 and $36 the last six months had occasion to smile just a little Wednesday.

In Montreal company directors announced they were increasing production at three Canadian plants. The total increase is relatively small—29,000 tons. Its significance lies in the fact that it's the third tonnage increase.

ALCAN has announced during the last three months. This smacks of a trend. And trends, as stock analysts say, are one of the factors which make stocks sink or soar.

Kitimat, ALCAN'S $500,000,000 investment in B.C., participates in the swelling production. Its bottling will be warmed up to the tune of an extra 6,000 tons. Shawinigan will boost capacity by 6,500 tons, Isle Maligne by 15,000 tons.

This means that ALCAN smelters in B.C. and Quebec will be producing 595,000 tons or 77 per cent of their capacity of 770,000 tons.

Improved market conditions in Canada, the U.K. and European countries led to the ALCAN decision. Since the company has reversed its position and decided to sell to Red China, further production boosts may follow.

Aluminium Ltd. was selling Wednesday for $30½. If increased production means increased sales it could be a wise investment.

B.C. shipyards aren't the only west coast industry which has been forgotten by the Department of Defence Production.

Between Oct. 16-31, the department approved 57 contracts worth $10,000 or more and having a total value of $5,656,994. But none of them were awarded to Vancouver Island firms.

The contracts, covering everything from canned salmon to snow removal, were ladled out to maritime, eastern, prairie and Vancouver contractors. None came here.

This is not necessarily a sin but it could be considered a crime inasmuch as there are three major defence groups on the Island. Surely the Pacific Command (Navy) Headquarters, Work Point (Army) Barracks and Comox (RCAF) Maritime Squadron require canned salmon, batteries and footwear.

Gas Discovery In Northern B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pacific Petroleum Ltd. said it has made a substantial gas discovery in the Jedney-Bubbles-Laprise area in northern B.C.

The discovery, located about 50 miles northwest of Port St. John, is the most northerly production found to date in the upper triassic formation.

RENEWS FIGHT — Ernest Broome, Vancouver industrial engineer and Progressive Conservative MP for Vancouver South, announced Wednesday he will resume his battle to require private companies which are wholly-owned subsidiaries of large corporations to disclose their financial operations. He will introduce a private bill at forthcoming session of Parliament. He was unsuccessful last year to require such private companies to make annual financial statements under the Companies Act.

CHRYSLER SHUTS DOWN PRODUCTION

DETROIT (AP)—Assembly lines were idle at Chrysler Corporation today as the firm became the second car manufacturer to suspend production because of steel shortages in the United States. But the shutdown will last only a week, Chrysler said it will resume output of its compact Valiant and Imperial passenger cars and Dodge trucks Dec. 9.

Vancouver to Get $15 Million Hotel

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new hotel at an estimated cost of $15,000,000 is scheduled for construction next year on an undisclosed Vancouver site.

Builder will be Julius Balshine, owner of the downtown Admiral Hotel and the Park Town Hotel. Construction is expected to start in January with tentative completion date set for the end of the year.

Newsprint Firms Hold High Prices

LONDON (CP)—Beaverbrook Newspapers Limited said Wednesday that Canadian, British and Scandinavian newsprint producers are striving "for as long as possible to hold their inflated price," board chairman M. L. Aitken, son of Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, charged that high newsprint prices persist because "the newsprint companies are holding a thin red line of price control."

A statement circulated with the newspaper group's annual report, Aitken said: "Unless the newsprint mills make some effort to reduce the present high price, they will find instead of increased consumption that they will experience a further decline over the next year or two which will not help them or the newspapers."

"Let them reduce their prices and they will see an immediate increase in the consumption of newsprint by British newspapers, which will in turn raise their production."

Reading Spurred Active Curiosity

AN active curiosity about living things, and a desire to try to "stump an expert," led to Ken Palmer, nine, having a question appear in the "Ask Andy" column published five days per week on this page.

His question on the reticulated python, won him a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America, his prize for having the question chosen for the popular science feature. It is answered in today's column.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Palmer, 1324 Vining, he is the oldest of three children and a grade four student at George Jay School, where he belongs to the school glee club.

Ken is an avid reader, and it was his reading, which led to his sending a question to the column. He enjoys adventure, science and historical stories best, but his favorite subject in school, oddly enough, is arithmetic.

He joined the Public Library five years ago, as soon as he could print his name, and is a regular patron of the children's section.

KEN PALMER
... busy with books

Born in Victoria, like his father, he attends St. John's Anglican Church Sunday school, and enjoys soccer and baseball at school. His rainy days are spent working on aircraft and ship models.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas of Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Ken Palmer, aged 9, of Victoria, B.C. for the question:

How Did the Reticulated Python Get His Name?

This fellow holds the title Longest Snake in the World. He is a constrictor whose native home is in the Malay region of Asia. He may be 32 feet long, or even longer. He feeds by crushing his victims in his powerful coils and then swallowing them whole.

He got the name reticulated python for the same reason the American diamond-backed rattler got his name—from the markings on his skin. The diamond-backed rattlesnake has a neat design of diamond figures down the entire length of his spine. The word reticulate means a little net and the word reticulate means covered with a network. The design on the reticulated python is a network of fine lines.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Dianne Hackett, age 12, of Richmond, Va., for her question:

What exactly is gold?

The Indians of Mexico thought that the conquering Spaniards had a disease which only gold could cure. Almost everyone in the Old World

Easiest Metal to Work

The softness of gold, however, makes it the easiest of all metals to work. It can be pressed into leaves no thicker than one 25,000th part of an inch. This means that it is the most malleable of all metals. It can also be drawn into long thin threads for, say, making gold lace. An alloy of gold and silver can be drawn to a thread one 20,000th part of an inch wide. This means that gold is the most ductile of metals.

In olden days, its scarcity, its durability and its workability made gold the most valuable of metals. Add to this the fact of its sunny beauty and you can see why it played such a glamorous role in the minds of mankind.

Today, gold is not the rarest of metals and not the most valuable. Too, we know more about it. We know, for instance, that it is an element, one of the 90 odd chemicals from which everything in our world is made. Every atom of gold is like every other—we cannot make them from other atoms.

We know too that gold is very heavy and this fact helps us to sift it from other minerals in the earth's crust. When a prospector finds the right stream bed he shakes around a pan of muddy water so that the heavier particles sink and the lighter particles come to the top. If there is gold in the mixture, it will be at the bottom of the pan. For gold is seven times heavier than sandy quartz and more than twice as heavy as solid iron.

We use gold for its beauty to make ornaments and jewelry. We overcome its softness by alloying it with metals, such as silver, platinum, copper, nickel and zinc. A carat is the 24th part of any gold metal or gold alloy. Hence, 24 carat gold is pure gold, 18 carat gold is six parts alloy metal and 12 carat gold is half alloy metal.

Indian Charged In Brother's Death

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (AP)—Francis Billy, a 20-year-old Indian, has been charged with murder in connection with the death of his brother, RCMP said here Wednesday.

Police said Felix Billy, 28, died Sunday night from a knife wound suffered in an incident at Chezacut, 60 miles northwest of Alexis Creek in the Cariboo region 160 miles northwest of Kamloops.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I just remembered that I was guilty of handing out a "payola" a long time ago. And so were you, and you, and you! Remember when you took your teacher a big red apple? And sent teacher a handkerchief for Christmas? The question is: shouldn't my first grade teacher, now a nice old lady about 90, be investigated for not refusing the big red apple?

JUDY GARLAND
... mostly water

Toots Shor was telling Lilo, the shapely French chanteuse, somewhat vaguely, of his trip to Paris, Rome and London. "I'm the only bum who's been to all them places, and can't pronounce any of them," he finally confessed. Toots, whose fame for insulting strangers had rather frightened his wife and Virginia Warren on the trip, was constantly kept in line by the use of two words. "Remember, Toots!" they would say, and he would become meek.

The nearest he came to forgetting to remember was in Venice when a stranger in a restaurant undertook to light Virginia's cigarette. "We can light our own cigarettes!" Toots barked, slapping the man's hand down. "Remember, Toots," the women said, and all was quiet.

A certain music publisher says that a certain disc jockey (not mentioned in the probe) phoned him: "You know that $500 loan I got from you three months ago?" The publisher couldn't remember any loan, he could only remember a payola. The disc jockey continued: "I can pay it back now." The publisher later commented: "I'm making more money now getting back payola than I'm making in the music business!"

Sid Luft, Judy Garland's husband, phoned Eddie Fisher to console him about Liz Taylor's double pneumonia—and to reveal that Judy's long-time excess weight evidently isn't obesity but excess water absorption. After four months' rest and treatment, she may be slim again. As for Liz Taylor's double pneumonia, she asked Eddie to bring ice cream to her at Doctors' Hospital at midnight.

"DON'T PRINT THAT!" The State Liquor Authority is investigating a famous night club and its owner... They'll deny it but John Wayne and his old buddy and puber man, Jim Henaghan, had a screaming session on "Alamo" down in Texas, and Duke let one go. Nobody wounded... The payola probes hope to nail a cafe operator, also in music, who knows lots of disc jockeys real good.

Phil Silvers is taking his wife, two children, nurse and mother-in-law, with him when he opens at the Las Vegas Riviera Dec. 24... Dagmar is a smash in the new "Playgirls" revue at the L.V. Desert Inn—for her dancing yet... Jonathan Winters is "going quail-hunting in the Blue Ridge Mountains with Ted Kesting of Sports Afield... Now reconciled completely to Barry Sullivan, Gita Hall says she'll give up her career for housewifery.

EARL'S PEARLS: "Surprise twist—a dame who shows up unexpectedly."—Tony Petite.

Mouse Ran Up Phone Coin Hole

LEIGHTON BUZZARD, Eng. (AP)—Donald Underwood believes British pay telephones need a button you can push to get your mouse back.

Donald, 12, usually carries his pet white mouse, Fred, around with him.

The lad went into a public phone booth to make a call Sunday. He placed Fred on the stack of directories.

Fred promptly ran up into the phone box through the slot where coins are returned.

Donald called the post office engineering department—which services British phones—and asked for help.

Robert Hutchinson, an engineer, arrived and dismantled the phone.

"I found Fred sitting quietly inside the box," said Hutchinson.

'Magic' Castle For Ice Capades

A magic castle which grows before the eyes of the audience is part of the fantasy when Snow White is portrayed by the Ice Capades cast this season.

The big ice revue is booked at Memorial Arena January 12 to 16 to give Victoria the "spectacular" again after an absence of several years.

The Snow White sequence is one of nine colorful productions which will include an ice ballet "Les Sylphides" and "Operama" — with selections from "Faust," "La Boheme," "Samson and Delilah" and "Pagliacci."

There will be five evening performances — Monday to Friday at 8.15 and Saturday at 9 p.m., and two matinees on Saturday, at 1.30 and 5.30 p.m.

Several performers who appeared here in previous shows will return including Aja Zanova, twice a world champion, and clown Willie Kall. Starred by the show for the first time is Helga Neff, who will play Snow White.

As in other years, local figure skaters will be auditioned for jobs in the cast.

A draw is being conducted at Eaton's music centre Saturday and 30 winners will be sent to Vancouver to preview the show when it plays there Dec. 10.

TO COMMISSION OWN WORK

City Symphony

Granted $1,000

By AUDREY JOHNSON
 Times Music Critic

In extending a helping hand to symphony orchestras and musicians in Canada, the Canada Council has once more acknowledged the major standing of the Victoria Symphony by offering a $1,000 grant to the society for the commissioning of a special work for the orchestra by a Canadian composer.

Such grants are made to organizations which, according to the letter received by president Jack Barracough, "have done distinguished work in the field of music, visual arts and theatre."

Choice of the composer should be made in concurrence with the orchestra's conductor and composition must be performed by the Victoria Symphony on a regular program, before the end of 1960.

Canada Council will pay half the cost of copying the score as an addition to the grant. The offer has been accepted by the society.

It is also announced that Sir Bernard Heinze, famed Australian conductor at present touring Canada on behalf of the council to make a study of the problems of Canadian orchestras, will be in Victoria in March and will conduct the March 27-28 pair of concerts at which Glenn Gould is to be guest pianist.

An immediate problem facing Victoria Symphony is the procuring of a set of tympani.

DID JAB OR BUTT CUT EYE?

Banging left jab off forehead of challenger Dave Charnley of England, world lightweight champion Joe Brown picks up point in early going of Wednesday's title bout at Houston, Texas. Charn-ley's right eye battered and cut in the brow (see right) caused fight to be stopped after end of fifth round. Charnley claimed butt by Brown caused cut. It went as a sixth-round TKO.

Busy Mr. Brown Eager To Put Training to Use

HOUSTON, Tex. (CP)—Joe Brown, skittish 34-year-old world lightweight boxing king, stopped another charge of youth with a vicious right uppercut Wednesday night when he beat Dave Charnley of England on a sixth-round technical knockout.

The uppercut, a hammer-like blow that followed a left jab, came near the end of the fifth round and brought blood gushing from a cut over Charnley's right eye. The 24-year-old British Empire lightweight champion couldn't answer the bell for the sixth round.

"It was like taking candy from a baby," bubbled Brown. He was so fresh after the fight that he said he was ready to fight again in a week against an unnamed opponent.

TRAINING WASTED

"No use wasting all that training—that's the hardest part of it. I'm not hurt and I'm ready to go."

Alton Erickson, a supervisor of boxing in Texas, said it will be recorded as a sixth-round technical knockout because the fifth round was over when the bout was stopped.

There were howls of "but!" from Charnley's handlers when the blood started running. Arthur Boggs, Charnley's manager, said a butt caused the trouble but that it was unintentional.

Referee Jimmy Webb agreed with Brown that it was a right. "That's the one that ripped him open," said the champion. "But I would have knocked him cold if I hadn't cut him."

EIGHTH DEFENCE

Charnley, a former boiler-maker, never was in the fight. Brown, from Baton Rouge, La., was making the eighth defence of his title in 39 months—the busiest champion of them all. It tied the number of defences by Benny Leonard, who set the record in the lightweight class before he retired undefeated in 1925.

Brown was leading by as much as five points in the fifth round when he lashed out with a left and then a right and crimson spread down Charnley's right cheek. Charnley put his glove to his head and staggered back just as the round ended.

Brown weighed 134 pounds to Charnley's 133.

A crowd of about 6,000 paid $22,720 for the fight. Counting $40,000 television money, the total was $72,720. Brown got about $25,000, Charnley $12,000.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The first head-on clash between the majors and the proposed third major baseball league—the Continental—may take place Tuesday when they meet separately but under the same roof at Miami Beach.

The American and National Leagues, spurred by Commissioner Ford Frick, are expected to make known their positions on expansion of their eight-club leagues.

The Continental League, aware of Frick's pressure on the majors, has called a meeting of its own to coincide with those of the majors. Branch Rickey, president of the five-team circuit, will fly from New York, prepared to respond when the majors state their positive intentions.

Harold Just Missed Chance for Big Sale

Harold Paulding almost sold himself a bill of goods entitling him to bowling immortality this week.

The veteran Victoria bowler and salesman failed to clinch the deal for immortality—a perfect 300 game—but he did wind up with a new high single mark for city 10-pinner to shoot at.

Rolling in the Senior Tenpin

League at Gibson's Bowldrome Tuesday night, Harold rang up 10 straight strikes before missing the headpin on the 11th frame. He left seven pins standing, caught one with his last ball and wound up with a 285.

Paulding's three-game total was 601. His other games were 146 and 170.

Harold's "ten-timer" featured an evening of hot scoring in the Senior League. Sheldon Nipp had 654 (258), Rennie Low 616 (245), and Nipp had a split on the first frame and then reeled off eight strikes in posting his 258 single.

Haworth's Three Sparks Cougars Against Comets

At least two Western Hockey League coaches have room for relief today. Their potential high scorers have suddenly bloomed.

Veteran Gordon Haworth, Victoria Cougars' second-highest scorer last season and virtually a non-producer in 25 games so far this season, fired three goals to lead Cougars to a 5-2 win over Spokane Comets Wednesday.

Haworth, good for 73 points in the 1958-59 regular season, scored only four goals in 25 games this year prior to Wednesday's action.

SMILE, PARDNER!

And while Cougar coach Hal Lamm smiled in Spokane, Calgary's Gus Kyle beamed in Cowtown.

It was much the same story. Stampeder's Lou Jankowski broke out with three goals and two assists to pace Calgary to a 7-2 win over the league-leading Vancouver Canucks and break Calgary's four-game losing streak.

Jankowski, Calgary's top scorer last season with 45, had managed but six in 22 games before the Canucks came calling.

POOR ROAD MARK

Calgary's win gave the Stamps fifth place in the standings with 20 points. For Canucks, who have 36 points, the loss put them back with all other WHL clubs on the debit side in away games. Vancouver now has a record of six wins and two ties and seven losses in 15 games on the road.

Victoria moved into sole possession of second with 29 points, two more than Seattle Totems and five more than Edmonton Flyers. Winnipeg and Spokane are in the cellar with 17 points apiece.

Vancouver moves on to Winnipeg Friday while Spokane is at Seattle and Calgary at Edmonton in other action.

FINNEY GETS TWO

Sid Finney scored a pair of goals to aid Jankowski's effort for Calgary. Ron Leopold and Gordie Vejprava added singles before 3,349 fans.

Canucks, who trailed 3-1 after the first period and 5-2 going into the final frame, replied with markers from defenceman Larry Cahan and centre Dave Duke. They also picked up the only two penalties in the game.

At Spokane, Haworth scored the only two first-period goals to put Cougars ahead. Arnie Schmautz and Art Jones had singles and Bev Bell and Ching Johnson split Comets' scoring.

The attendance figures, over 4,000, were a big boost to Comets, who dropped sharply from last season's league-leading attendance figures when they fell in the cellar early this season and stayed there.

Teams, Not Stars, Major Grid Worry

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The founder of the American Football League said Wednesday he isn't worrying that the competing National Football League has signed some of the top stars of the college ranks.

"We're not interested in high bidding for the name players," said Lamar Hunt, wealthy Texas oilman. "We want to build a solid team."

Soccer Boss Asks Free Rein

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific Coast Soccer League tonight will discuss acceptance of general manager Bill Coleman's resignation.

Coleman submitted his resignation Tuesday and said he was willing to carry on as general manager only if the league agrees to his formula for running league affairs. He has demanded a free hand in promoting the PCSL back to popularity.

Delegates from member clubs will attend the meeting, which is also scheduled to elect a new slate of officers.

NO DOLLAR FIGHT

Thus Hunt appeared to rule out a financial fight for the top gridgers, depending on job security to lure players in a profession noted for the number who fail to make the grade.

The owners of an apparent new NFL entry from Dallas, Clint Murchison, Jr., and Bedford Wynne, snared the services of Don Meredith, Southern Methodist's great passing star, with a "personal services contract." Such a contract keeps Meredith still eligible for post-season games.

"They've signed certain players that we wanted like Meredith and George Izo (of Notre Dame)," Hunt admitted. "But we're not looking for individuals." "We're looking for 33 players to make a team."

Hunt said it wasn't a death blow when the Texans lost Meredith. "There is one other player who could give us some of the local drawing power we had expected from Meredith."

Alouettes' New Coach Has Plenty of Ideas

MONTREAL (CP)—Perry Moss, newly-acquired coach of Montreal Alouettes, spoke before a press luncheon Wednesday and outlined a three-point program for himself.

From here on, he will be busy with recruiting, with reorganization of the Alouette staff and with many phases of football itself.

The 33-year-old coach arrived in Montreal Tuesday night from Tallahassee, Fla., where he has just completed a season as athletic director and coach at Florida State University.

He has a dual job with Alouettes—as head coach and as general manager. Since the Al's season ended Coach Douglas (Peabody) Walker and General Manager Gorman Kennedy have been let out.

MOSS SATISFIED

He said he is satisfied with the U.S. players he has found on Alouettes' negotiation list. Each Canadian club now is allowed a maximum of 20 on its list.

Moss, however, said he would like to have halfback Fred Pickard from FSU try out with the Al's next season. There is also a possibility quarterback Joe Majors will be invited to the camp. Neither is present in the Al's list.

Moss will start his recruiting campaign soon and plans to get in touch with all players on Alouettes' list.

He will also study movies of Al's games. Through this study he can grade and rate players "on a scientific basis," eliminating guesswork and the disadvantage of personal knowledge of the players and their work.

He said he feels it will take him four months from now, through study of films and otherwise, to adjust himself to the Canadian game.

'Harvey Night' Gains To Aid Kiddies Cause

MONTREAL (CP)—There will be big doings tonight at Montreal Forum when Doug Harvey, Montreal Canadiens defenceman, is deluged with an estimated $12,000 in gifts.

It's Doug Harvey Night, and tribute will be paid the star defenceman between the second and third periods of the National Hockey League game with New York Rangers.

Chairman Irving Liverman of the Doug Harvey Night committee said it will be "one of the biggest 'nights' ever held for a Montreal player."

Business and commercial firms have donated close to 100 gifts, including a station wagon. Harvey has asked that all money collected above the cost of the car be given to a retarded children's fund.

CHAMP'S GIMMICK

Can't Carry Bat Into Fight Ring!

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer is swinging a baseball bat again—as he did in preparation for the fight against Carmen Basilio last August in which he won the title.

But challenger Spider Webb of Chicago has scoffed at Fullmer's baseball antics.

"He can hit with a baseball bat in training," Webb said, "but can he take it into the ring with him Friday night?"

Obviously the champion will not have the bat with him when he meets Webb in the 15-round nationally televised bout at the Utah State University Fieldhouse at Logan, Utah, 80 miles north of here.

But Manager Merv Jensen says the bat "gives all Fullmer's muscles a workout... teaches him to pivot correctly... and good batting form is good punching form."

Jensen says battling is the best "gimmick" he has developed for Fullmer.

The champion boxed a quick five rounds in his final public workout at the nearby West Jordan, Utah, gym.

As Fullmer took his final swings at the heavy bag, Jensen announced Gene would like to try for light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore's crown if the middleweight king beats Webb.

Mount View High School's senior girls' basketball team will have to improve considerably to even stay in contention in the inter-high league this season.

The girls were swamped, 58-7, Wednesday when they visited Mount Douglas High for the opening game of the schedule.

Marilyn Burly, with five points, and Marilyn Hughes, with two saved the losers from a shutout while Carol Casillo and Sylvia Wedman led the winners with 16 apiece.

Mount Douglas—Sylvia Campbell 2, Carol Casillo 16, Sue Watson 2, Sylvia Wedman 18, Pat Donaldson 2, Joyce Murrant 4, Arlene Pierce 16, Georgina Roles 4, Lynette Weston 2. Total 58.

Mount View—Marilyn Hughes, Marilyn Burly 3, Doreen Holt, Marilyn Hughes 2, Elva Hiscock, Crooke Alexander, Brenda Kraker, Ruth Ford, Lynn Simpson. Total 7.

PROVINCIAL FINAL SATURDAY

Oak Bay Won't Miss Byng Boys

Third time lucky? That's the question Oak Bay High School supporters are asking as their favorite rugby squad prepares to challenge the mainland representatives for the B.C. championship.

The sudden-death high school final will be played at Carnarvon Park Saturday afternoon, starting at 2:30, with Oak Bay playing David Thompson High of Vancouver.

This marks the third straight year Oak Bay has barged into the provincial final. They missed the big bauble the last two years, losing 7-0 and 7-0 to Lord Byng of Vancouver.

There will not be any defending champions in this year's playoff, however. Lord Byng missed meeting Oak Bay for a third straight time when David Thompson's representatives defeated them 6-5 in the Vancouver final.

Fans who take in Saturday's playoff will be able to watch the game in comfort. Bleachers erected for last Sunday's juvenile Canadian football playoff between Oak Bay Police and Vancouver Marpole will remain at Carnarvon Park until after Saturday's game.

AT CARNARVON PARK

TURKEYS UP FOR GRABS AT TRAP SHOOT SUNDAY

Victoria Fish and Game Club grounds will be a busy place Sunday when the club stages its annual Christmas trap shoot.

Turkeys and hams will be up for grabs on the trap ranges from 10 a.m. until dark. Shooters will be classed according to their known ability in order that all entrants will have a chance to share in the prizes.

Non-shooters will also have opportunities to win prizes in activities inside the clubhouse, which will continue until midnight.

Ammunition and refreshments will be available at the clubhouse and everyone is invited to join in the fun.

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

Hunters will be allowed to shoot deer of any type and size on lower Vancouver Island this weekend, but a surprising number will still be looking for antlers before they pull the trigger.

Although most have now become accustomed to the idea of any-sex deer seasons, a good percentage of rifle men, particularly those who have been walking the woods for many years, still don't consider deer hunting a sport unless they are trying to line up their sights on a buck.

Sportsmen operating in the Campbell River and Northwest Bay areas last weekend showed they preferred to pack out something with antlers since half the animals they brought through game branch road checks were bucks.

There is no doubt that the boys saw more does and fawns than bucks. Taken casually over several years, my own tally indicates that about one of 10 deer seen during a season can be recognized as a buck and the ratio climbs to about one in six or seven during November.

There is nothing wrong with shooting does. The practice is biologically sound and the meat is just as good, maybe better. It's just a matter of personal preference.

All deer on Vancouver Island, Salt Spring and the Gulf Islands will be legal game this weekend when shooting winds up for another year. An antlerless season has been in effect in portions of the Island north of the San Juan and Koksilah rivers since Nov. 21 and the door is also open in the southern area and on Salt Spring Saturday and Sunday.

One of nature's rarities, a doe with antlers, was bagged near Campbell River last weekend.

Perhaps it would be more correct to say with an antler. The doe, bigger than most bucks that were brought through the check point, had a six-inch spike growing out of a large horny growth on one side of the skull. Another horny growth, an inch or so higher, served as the other antler.

Northwest Bay has been one of the better hunting areas this year and four of every 10 hunters last weekend brought in a deer. At Campbell River, the success ratio was 25 per cent.

Things seem fairly quiet along the fishing front, but there are some husky spring salmon off the Victoria waterfront. Although the best fishing is probably off the Breakwater, there have also been some good days off Oak Bay. Poor days have been as numerous as the good ones, but some of the springs are big ones, and when you tie into a 20-pound winter spring it makes up for a lot of waiting.

Blueback fishing, which can also be a tricky business, is fairly good at Saanich Inlet and off Crofton. Several limits and a few small springs and coho have been brought in at the Inlet, where the blues are hitting best at green-and-white bucktails and small spoons.

Best spots appear to be the Narrows and off the Stone House, White Lady, Willis Point and Bamberton.

Bill Hall and Ralph Barnes arrived back in town last week with an imposing pile of trophies on their Land Rover. In a week of hunting in the Quenel area, they used up all their deer and moose tags, downing four mule bucks and a pair of bull moose.

Two of the bucks were real old-timers with fine antler spreads and one of the moose was an excellent trophy.

Bill and Ralph have been hunting near Quenel for many years and can't remember game being more plentiful.

There were a couple of surprised anglers down Lake Superior way this fall. They hauled in pink salmon, which are native to the Pacific Coast.

Pink salmon were raised to fingerling size in a Port Arthur hatchery this year and most were shipped north to be released in a stream flowing into Hudson Bay. After the fish-carrying plane left, about 60 fingerlings were found still in hatchery troughs and were later released in Lake Superior.

William Negard landed a 19½-inch pink along the north shore of the lake on Sept. 5 and William Vancalberg pulled in an 18-inch two weeks later.

Minor Hockey Stars On Display Saturday

Victoria's midget hockey all-stars go on display at Memorial Arena Saturday afternoon, meeting Nanaimo midgets in an exhibition clash.

The midget stars go into action at 5:45, following a bantam division game between Victoria and Nanaimo all-stars which starts at 4:15.

The midgets warmed up this week with a pair of Victoria Minor Hockey Association games, in which Indians scalped Bears, 8-4, and Barons downed Bisons, 5-3.

Paul Bion is setting the pace in the midget division scoring race. Bion has 15 points in his five games on nine goals and six assists.

Jim Haggarty, who has also counted nine goals, holds down the runner-up spot with 12 points, followed by Glen Vickers, with 11, and Larry Johnston with 10.

Wayne Anderson and Dave Woodley each have nine points, one ahead of Bob Kneazky and John Fitterer. Midget division standings:

BRONCO HORVATH scores No. 21

Bower Blanks Runaway Leaders; Horvath Scores 21st for Bruins

Johnny Bower, Bronco Horvath — a couple of players that once weren't wanted — and big Frank Mahovlich — a kid they all wanted when he still was playing kid hockey — were the names that stood front and centre in National Hockey League circles today.

Bower, peddled by the New York Rangers two years ago because he was considered too old for major league duty, handled 28 shots without a miscue Wednesday night as Toronto Maple Leafs blanked Montreal Canadiens, 1-0.

And it was Mahovlich, with a flick of his stick, who helped shatter Canadiens' undefeated streak and also moved to the out-going door of the dog-house.

LONG STRETCH Mahovlich scored the lone goal before 14,632 fans, the largest Toronto crowd in 13 years, to mark the first time in 19 starts that Canadiens had been beaten. And the shut-out by Bower was the first against them since Leafs blanked the Habs 3-0 Dec. 31 last year.

And Horvath continued to make headlines when he scored his 21st goal of the season to help Boston Bruins salvage a 2-2 tie against the Black Hawks in Chicago.

Mahovlich, who won the rookie award two seasons ago, scored on what was practically a gift from Leaf defenceman Marc Reame.

Reame rifled a shot at Montreal netminder Jacques Plante from just inside the blue line. Plante fell to block it but Mahovlich, standing unprotected beside the net, flicked in the rebound.

It was Mahovlich's fourth goal of the season. The six-foot-one, 200-pounder — a 22-goal man last season — had been under fire by the Leaf management recently for his poor showing.

BOWER UNBEATABLE

Bower was a big man in the Leaf victory as he recorded his second shutout of the season. He made 28 stops, including a key one in the third period when Marcel Bonin broke in alone on the Leaf net.

At Chicago, before a small crowd of 5,618 left winger Ron Murphy's goal with less than four minutes to play gave Hawks the tie and moved them out of the cellar for the first time in weeks. The game featured by a first-period slugfest between Vic Stasiuk of Bruins and Chicago's Eric Nesterenko.

Doug Mohns got Boston's other goal — his fourth since moving up from defence five games back, and Bobby Hull scored Hawks' first one.

Stasiuk and Nesterenko staged their fight after the two tangled behind the Chicago net. They got up slugging.

Four-for-Seven — Is That Fair?

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League have given up four players and received seven from Milwaukee of the National League.

Beavers are sending pitchers Dave Gray and Vic Lombardi, shortstop Jack Littrell and first baseman Gary Rushing to Milwaukee.

In return, Beavers will receive pitchers Jim Davis, Roger Bowman and Noel Mickelsen; catcher Bill Queen, and infielders Jack Pittmar, Ed Kayzak and Nippy Jones.

TOKYO—Kenji Yonekura, Japan, out-pitched Kozo Nagata, Japan, 10, bantamweights.

Demeter Only Fly In Trade Ointment

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Los Angeles Dodgers' refusal to include outfielder Don Demeter in a six-man player trade parley between the Dodgers and Washington Senators today.

Dodgers had offered shortstop Don Zimmer, outfielder Ron Fairly and pitcher Danny McDevitt or Clem Labine for slugger Roy Sievers, pitchers Russ Kemmerer and second baseman Reno Bertola. The Senators insisted that Demeter be substituted for Fairly.

The Senators, still searching for shortstop and centerfielder, turned to Chicago White Sox. They offered the same trio for Chicago's Sammy Esposito, Johnny Callison and a catcher—either Earl Battey or John Romano.

No deals were completed Wednesday, although every club reported trade talk. The feeling was that no deal would be engineered until the major league meeting in Miami Beach, Fla., next week. Bing Devine, general manager of St. Louis Cardinals, said talks with the Giants of a trade involving Johnny Antonelli and Daryl Spencer of the Giants and Larry Jackson and Don Blasingame of the Redbirds had collapsed. However, he expressed hope that a trade could be made between the clubs along those lines "with variations."

LABATT'S PILSENER

NOW BREWED ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Increased demand for Labatt's Pilsener beer on the Island has enabled the company to bottle this brand at Victoria.

Previously all Labatt's Pilsener for sale on Vancouver Island was brewed at New Westminster.

This move will result in increased year-round employment at the John Labatt Ltd. subsidiary, Lucky Lager Breweries Ltd., in Victoria.

Months of exacting quality control tests, and extensive modernization of equipment was undertaken to ensure that Labatt's original pilsener recipe would be accurately reproduced at the Victoria brewery. The recipe was created by European master brewers in 1878, and uses yeast grown here from Europe. It was awarded the "Prix d'Excellence", highest award won in North America, at the Belgium World Beer Competition in 1958.

We take pleasure in expanding our participation in the economic and social life of Vancouver Island.

ISLAND DIGEST

Fire Damage Zero for Year

(From Duncan Bureau)
LAKE COWICHAN — Fire Chief B. R. "Moe" All and members of the Lake Cowichan Volunteer Fire Department are celebrating a year free of fire loss.

LUCKY FRIDAY FOR ARTHUR

GANGES — Arthur Young learned this week that Friday was his lucky day in more ways than one.
He left here Thursday on a hunting trip, drove all night to meet friends at Clinton, in the Cariboo, and by Friday had shot a moose.
On his return he was told that on Friday it was announced he had won a rifle in a contest sponsored by the Salt Spring Island Lions Club.

18 Indians Take Course In Nursing

(From Duncan Bureau)
A Red Cross and civil defence home nursing study group of 13 married and five single Cowichan Indian women will be graduated here early in February.
The Cowichan Indians are taking the stage of the course offered under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Satge, R.N., director of nursing services, B.C. Division of the Canadian Red Cross, and Mrs. Arthur Mann Jr., registered nurses' association.
Instructor Mrs. Lewis Langlois, R.N., of the Duncan chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association, is teaching the class how to make a patient's bed, feed a patient, take temperature, and give medicine.
Charles Clark, Duncan, is instructing in methods of artificial respiration.
E. C. Bolin, civil defence coordinator, said that more courses for Indians will be held in the future. They are designed to qualify the Indians to look after themselves in an emergency.
About 70 persons have been trained here under the civil defence plan in a two-year period.
Classes are in session Thursday nights in the Indian Affairs branch office in the old post office building.

Sewer Job Set

NANAIMO — Colwood Contracting Co., of 333 Fairview, Colwood, was awarded a contract for laying four miles of trunk sewer mains for Harewood Improvement District.
Its tender of $150,293 was the lowest of six submitted.
Construction will begin Jan. 2, and completion date is May 31. The project is the first stage of the Harewood sewage disposal system.

HUNTERS MUST AVOID CAMP

Vandalism Sparks Warning

CHEMAINUS — Vandalism at the Copper Canyon logging operation of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. has resulted in a warning to hunters, issued jointly by the company and the Chemainus Rod and Gun Club, which supervises hunter access to the area.
Over the past two weekends tools, a fire extinguisher and other articles were taken from a bulldozer. There also had been tampering with the machine.
As a result, hunters have been warned to keep at least 1,000 yards away from any active logging operation.
Hunting in the Copper Canyon area has been "pretty good" this year according to club officials.
Statistics show that 177 deer have been shot in the area so far this year, with one weekend still to go.
Records also show that more hunters are out looking for deer this year. A total of 640 cars carrying 1,386 hunters has been checked through the club gate to date.

VOTES SET FOR $2 MILLION DUNCAN PROJECT

Site Picked, Hospital Plans Start

King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan has started plans to build a new $2,000,000 hospital of 165 beds to serve the whole of the Cowichan Valley.
Kenneth F. Noton, administrator, said an 8.52-acre site on Gibbins Road is owned by the hospital, and that the architectural firm of Birley and Wagg in Victoria has been appointed to prepare plans.
Referendums on the move will be held next year in each of the four hospital areas to be served by the hospital, and costs will be shared according to the percentage of patients from each.

The new site is twice the size of that occupied by the present 40-year-old, 109-bed building at Cavell and Jubilee Streets.
On the eight-man building committee are Aldermen Steve Saunders and James Saunders of Duncan; Sir Philip Livingstone and C. B. Meredith, Koksilah Valley; Gunnar Neilsen and L. B. Bailey, Lake Cowichan, and Councillors Don Morton and Tony Staples, North Cowichan.

Howard B. Matthews, chairman of the hospital board, will head the committee, and Mr. Noton will be secretary.

It is expected planning will take about a year and building an additional 18 months, Mr. Noton said. Hospital statistics now are being studied to determine percentage of patient occupancy in the last five years.

Elks Club Fine Dismissed

DUNCAN — Conviction and fine of $1,000 against Lake Cowichan Elks Club on a charge of failing to keep correct records of guests and their sponsors on their premises July 6 was quashed in County Court Wednesday by Judge Arnold Hanna.

Original conviction was in police court here by Magistrate A. L. Anderson.

On appeal lawyers Angelo Branca of Vancouver and David Williams of Duncan charged that the Crown had failed to prove the existence of regulations governing the keeping of guest books. Prosecutor D. K. McAdam claimed the ruling was covered by other regulations and did not have to be proved.

Former Policeman, Justice of Peace, Dies at Sidney

SIDNEY — Death occurred here Wednesday of John Broughton White, 70, former member of the B.C. Police and resident here for the past six months.

Born in England, he served with the Sherwood Foresters in the First World War with the rank of captain, and won the Military Cross.

He joined the provincial police in 1929, serving mainly in the Kootenays.

When the force was amalgamated with the RCMP he retired with the rank of sergeant. He was justice of the peace at Balfour, northeast of Nelson, for several years before coming here.

56 PIECES OF SILVER SPURNED BY THE COURT

NANAIMO (CP)—Ferdinand Delano Kallstrom of Alberni was fined $30 and 30 weeks for being a minor in possession of beer.

Straight-faced he began counting out the money—in piles of silver dollars.

As the neat piles of ten coins apiece gradually formed, court officials watched, then slowly shook their heads. Kallstrom took the hint. He laboriously picked up his collection, went down to the local bank and converted it to paper money, came back and paid his fine.

A Victoria courthouse officer says the Canada Year Book stipulates coins are considered currency in payment of fines under these conditions: gold coins are acceptable for fines of any amount; silver coins are accepted for fines up to $10, and nickels are good for fines up to $5.

Free Phone Vote Held in Four Areas

(From Duncan Bureau)

Ballots for a free telephone calling plebiscite affecting four Vancouver Island communities have been mailed to homes and offices in the areas concerned.

Under the plan proposed by B.C. Telephone Co., Cobble Hill would have free calling to Duncan; Duncan would call free to Cobble Hill and Chemainus; Chemainus would call free to Duncan and Ladysmith, and Ladysmith would have free calling to Chemainus.

Ballots have been accompanied by explanatory letters and are returnable to the Nanaimo district commercial office of the company by Dec.

SCOTCH TRICK The Firewater Turned Into Wine

A good Samaritan whose 26-ounce bottle of imported scotch whisky turned into a 40-ounce bottle of cheap domestic wine as he drove a strange woman home at her request, got satisfaction but no scotch in city police court Wednesday.

Rebecca Shepherd, 819 Fort, was found guilty of theft under $50 value after a trial and was fined $35.

Complainant Stanley G. Crittenden, 3309 Quadra, said he was stopped by the woman as he left Johnson liquor store. She asked him to take her home and appeared in a hurry, he said. Both climbed into Crittenden's car, each with a package under arm.

When the woman left the car, still in a hurry, Crittenden discovered his scotch was gone and a bottle of wine lay on the front-seat where the whisky had been.

He followed the woman, trying to explain she had made a mistake, but the woman kept going. Crittenden trailed her all the way into her second-floor apartment.

When Crittenden reached the room he said he saw a man reclining against a pillow, trying to hide a bottle behind him.

When he tried to explain there had been a mistake, Crittenden was told by the man and woman they knew nothing about any bottle, and the man ordered him out.

Crittenden went for the police.

Broadcaster Dies

SASKATOON (CP)—A. A. Murphy, president of A. A. Murphy & Sons, Limited, operators of radio station CFQC and CFQC-Television, of Saskatoon, died suddenly Wednesday night at his home. Death was attributed to a heart attack. He was 75.

WRECKAGE OF THE HOUSE at 1814 Quadra Street where army life in oil blaze is inspected by James Carlin, who the Armstrongs were visiting. (Times photo by Halkett)

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Mrs. Herbert L. Huell, attractive Portland visitor, tells of a remarkable encounter with a man selling tombstones.

The salesman called her house one afternoon and, in sympathetic tones, asked if she would like to buy a choice tombstone for her husband.

"It's the last thing you can do for him," he said piously.

Fortunately Mrs. Huell has an active sense of humor. "I think you'd better see my husband about that," she smiled. "He'll be home from the office soon."

But the salesman was already backing away, raising an apologetic hat. There had been some ghastly mistake.

I enjoyed the candid comment of Alberto Parlatto, a student at the University of Milan, who is returning to Italy after a three-months stay with his brother Carlo in Victoria.

"This is a lovely city," he said in his clipped English, "but I do not think the people are so lively."

That highly-colored macaw in Beacon Hill Park obviously prefers children to adults.

Several of us tried the "pretty polly" approach the other morning and got the stony eye and the deafening silence.

But when a lively four-year-old addressed him in shrill piping tones, he opened his wicked-looking beak and answered: "Hello soaks!"

Speaking of birds ... naturalist Alan Poynter of 970 Maddison Avenue tells me the tiny white-breasted rock wren from the Okanagan is still in Victoria.

The wren was first seen in Victoria on Thanksgiving Day.

It has since been spotted at Cattle Point.

Overheard in a bus: "For 20 years my wife and I were completely happy ... Then we met."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City finance committee today recommended acceptance of a $9,500 offer for a sixth house moved from the main firehall site and renovated this summer. If the sale goes through, it will leave only one more of the relocated houses to be sold.

Saanich council will be asked if it objects to sale of a small city lot on the Patricia Bay Highway, opposite Elk Lake, for a provincial weigh scale site. City Finance committee, approached by the provincial government for the property, noted that it was very close to the Church-by-the-Lake and several residences.

A former petty officer, Robert Douglas Crockatt, 3182 Fifth St., has been promoted to the rank of acting commissioned stores officer, and appointed to the destroyer escort HMCS Assiniboine, the navy announced today.

Shoppers Special Bus Starts Friday

Victoria's first "shopper's special" bus service will get an official sendoff Friday at 10 a.m. from Mayor Percy Scourrah, business leaders and press, radio and television representatives.

After a brief ceremony in front of city hall, dignitaries will board the bus for the first trip. The bus will loop Douglas, Courtney, Government and Herald streets on a 12-minute service. Fare is five cents. Sporting a Christmas motif the bus will run daily from 10 to 4 (and until 9 p.m. Fridays) until Dec. 24.

A 13-year-old Saanich boy, scalded while making lunch at home Wednesday noon, was treated at hospital for an extensive leg burn.

Jimmy Birtwhistle, 665 Baxter, was reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was taken by Saanich police ambulance at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said the boy spilled hot soup from hip to ankle of his left leg.

December meeting of Macaulay School PTA will be held in the school auditorium next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Herb Bate Ltd., contractor of 1314 Broad, was fined $30 and ordered to pay a $30 licence fee in city police court today when the owner pleaded guilty to a charge of operating without a city licence.

Eighteen-year-old Earl Wayne Sharpe, HMCS Naden, was fined $15 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having in his possession 16 bottles of beer.

The Founthope Social Club will meet at 18 Wellington Street Friday at 8 p.m. Formation of a bowling team will be discussed.

The CPR announced today that effective Dec. 13 the Princess of Vancouver sailings from Vancouver will be advanced 30 minutes with departures at 5:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., arriving Nanaimo 2 hours 45 minutes later. This schedule change will see the Vancouver leave Nanaimo daily at 1 a.m., 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Concurrent sentences of three months each were given Fraser Joseph, 1371 Craigflower, when he was found guilty of two charges of assault and one of theft: at a sitting of Sidney RCMP court Wednesday afternoon.

He was charged after a disturbance at East Saanich Indian Reserve, where a man and a woman were hurt and a .22 rifle stolen Tuesday night.

Building activity increased last month in Greater Victoria, according to building permits issued by the municipalities.

Sagich issued 95 permits worth $1,040,483, including 41 houses at $511,500 and a $350,000 apartment project on Lovat, during November.

Oak Bay last month gave out 30 permits valued at $669,594, including nine houses worth $184,000 and the $500,000 Mount Tolmie reservoir project.

Esquimalt issued 16 permits worth $224,050 last month, including a $162,000 Yarrow's railway project and three dwellings worth $41,500.

Victoria handed out 656 permits last month for construction valued at $367,539 compared with 604 permits worth $401,461 a year ago.

SAILOR PRAISED FOR SHARE IN RESCUE AT QUADRA STREET HOUSE BLAZE

Man Dies in Fire, Wife Saved

William Armstrong, 45-year-old Canadian Army veteran, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital late last night after being dragged from a burning two-storey frame house at 1814 Quadra.

He had apparently knocked over an oil heater in the front room of the house and police said an inquest will be held.

His wife, Pauline, 45, was rescued from the building by Able Seaman Henry Oshanek, 22, HMCS Naden, assisted by two civilians, and rushed to the hospital where she was said to be in satisfactory condition today.

The rescue was effected a few minutes before firemen arrived. As she was dragged out of the blazing building, Mrs. Armstrong was sobbing and crying.

"Bill kicked over the stove ... he's in there."

SOAKED IN OIL

Bill Armstrong, a logging truck driver and popular member of the Canadian Legion in Victoria, was rushed to hospital minutes after firemen dragged him from the building around 10:30 p.m.

His clothes were soaked in oil and he died an hour later. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who lived at the nearby Balmoral Apartments, 820 Balmoral, were visitors at the Quadra Street house when it caught fire.

James Carlin, part-owner of the house, had left them there while he visited Victoria Curling Rink. He returned to find the house in flames.

Able Seaman Oshanek, stationed at the RCN Technical School, HMCS Naden, was commended today by police and firemen for his courage and presence of mind in entering the blazing house and rescuing Mrs. Armstrong.

NAVY COURSE HELPED

By coincidence, he is taking a course in fire control at the RCN school and it was this, he said, that enabled him to recognize an oil fire.

Off-duty and in civilian clothes, he was driving past the house in his car when he saw the flames. He grabbed a flashlight from the glove compartment and rushed to the rear door of the house.

"Two civilians ran after me ... I heard a woman shouting. We crashed in through the back door and saw Mrs. Armstrong lying on the floor a short distance away."

"Farther down the hall I saw a man's arm sticking out from a doorway but knew we couldn't get to him. There was a wall of flame in between."

"So I grabbed Mrs. Armstrong under the arms and the two civilians helped me carry her out of the building to a safe corner of the garden. She was moaning and crying about the stove and her husband."

"Just then the fire brigade arrived. I shouted for an inhalator and told them there was a man inside the house. They took over from there."

Mrs. Armstrong was given artificial respiration and oxygen before being rushed to hospital.

Having done his job, Able Seaman Oshanek returned to his car and drove quietly away without telling anyone of his heroism, and the two civilians also disappeared.

They are still unidentified, but Able Seaman Oshanek was traced to the RCN Technical School this morning. When a senior officer asked him about the rescue, he just shrugged his shoulders and said:

"Oh yes, I helped pull her out."

He is a native of Yorkton, Saskatchewan, who joined the RCN four years ago.

The house on Quadra Street was a blackened ruin today and the oil stove which apparently caused the fire still lay on its side in the charred living room.

Carlin, who shares ownership of the house with his sister, Mrs. Helen Hutchison of 1615 Myrtle, was grief-stricken over the death of William Armstrong.

"My mother, Mrs. Mary Carlin, died in this same house less than three months ago. Now Bill has gone. It is terrible. He was a nice chap—a good chap. We had been friends for a long time."

'AWFUL SHOCK'

"He and his wife used to visit me often. They had no children and liked to come round for a drink and a chat. I left them in the living room about 3 p.m. when I went to the curling rink.

"When I came home there were firemen all over the house fighting the blaze. It was an awful shock to me."

Mr. Carlin said Bill Armstrong fought with the Canadian Army in Italy during the war and had been under treatment at the Veterans' Hospital in Victoria.

"I think he had had malaria at one time," Mr. Carlin said, "as he used to be overcome with fits of drowsiness. His family lived in Calgary."

The apartment where Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong lived at 820 Balmoral was just as they left it when they went to Mr. Carlin's house.

A half-smoked pipe lay on the kitchen table and cups and plates were laid out in readiness for a meal.

City Rattled, Riled By U.S. Jets' Boom

Houses Shaken; Explosion Feared

A super-sonic boom, believed caused by a U.S. Air Force jet, startled hundreds of Victorians shortly after 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and continues to have repercussions today.

Many citizens — including Mayor Percy Scourrah — are protesting against aircraft breaking the sound barrier over a city.

Some believe the air force should issue warnings before carrying out exercises over cities or towns.

The mayor today protested to Defence Minister George Pearkes.

The "boom"—a low rumble followed by a sharp roar — rattled windows, shook frame houses, sent scores rushing to the streets to see if an explosion had taken place.

JETS OVERHEAD

The whine of jet engines could be heard overhead.

A USAF public relations officer at McChord air force base, near Tacoma, said today four F-102A Jets were in the area shortly after 7 p.m.

He said they are part of the NORAD (North American Air Defence Command) fighter force, which is on a 24-hour alert.

"The pilots are instructed not to exceed the speed of sound, nor to fly lower than 30,000 feet within 20 miles of inhabited areas," he said.

"The jets Wednesday night were supposed to be flying at 32,000 feet, and at 670 miles per hour."

This is very close to the speed of sound at that altitude.

SLIP THROUGH

"It is quite easy for a plane of that type to slip through the sound barrier without the pilot being aware of it. Pilots are instructed to report when they have broken the sound barrier, and no such report has been made."

"But it is very likely the 'explosion' over Victoria was caused by one of the jets. As the pilots put it: 'when you're on the mach (Mach I is the speed of sound) it is difficult to avoid slipping through.'"

WARNING 'IMPOSSIBLE'

An RCAF spokesman said it was "physically impossible" to issue advance warnings of fighter activities over B.C.

"The NORAD fighters are on 'round-the-clock duty,'" he said. "They can be ordered up in a practice 'scramble' with no warning, or be sent up on an operational mission, such as checking out an unidentified aircraft, also without warning."

"We do issue warnings in the case of formal bomber exercises, planned well in advance, but this is impossible in the case of fighter activities."

MOVEMENTS OF NAVAL SHIP

Beacon Hill out for the day. St. Laurent returns Friday, 4 p.m.

Ottawa, Quebec, Dec. 3 (AP) — return 10 a.m. Dec. 22.

EXCAVATION CONTRACT LET FOR NEW COURTHOUSE SITE

A $92,065 contract for excavation of the new Victoria Courthouse was awarded today to Commonwealth Construction Company.

The firm was low bidder when tenders were opened last week. It is expected work will get underway immediately following ground-breaking ceremonies next Wednesday afternoon. About 35,000 cubic yards of rock and earth must be removed for the base of the planned five-storey building. The site is on Cathedral Hill, facing on Burdett St.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant will depress a plunger to explode a small dynamite charge signifying start of the project. Later there will be light refreshments at Cherry Bank Hotel and unveiling of a model of the completed building.

Cabinet Team Here to Discuss Columbia Power

Two federal cabinet ministers were scheduled to arrive at Victoria International Airport at 6 tonight for Columbia River hydro talks Friday with B.C. government officials.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton will represent Ottawa in the talks. There was an unconfirmed report Federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton will be on hand as well.

The Ottawa delegation and their technical assistants will meet all day Friday in closed sessions with B.C. Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Attorney-General Robert Bonner. It will be the second meeting of the group this year in Victoria. The members form a federal-provincial liaison committee in connection with the proposed Columbia development.

Mr. Williston recalled today the agreement in principle reached by U.S. and Canadian members of the International Joint Commission, that Canada would reap 50 per cent of downstream benefits if the development goes ahead.

MORE ENERGY

If Canadian storage dams are constructed, the regulated flow of water would permit a greater electrical energy output at existing U.S. power sites in Washington state.

"One of the main questions to be discussed is determining what the downstream benefits actually will amount to," said Mr. Williston.

Also slated for study are three development plans which have been proposed at the IJC level. Costs would run as high as $1,600,000,000 for complete power development of the river, the minister said.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

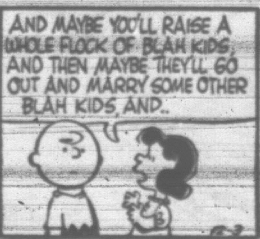

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. W. W. McLuhan will speak on fluoridation.

ASK THE TIMES

Q Could you please tell me what the frequently-used expression "Kilroy was here" actually means? M.E.

A The phrase was found written everywhere the American forces had been, particularly the Air Transport Command. Various theories have been forwarded as to its origin, one being that a certain Kilroy was inspector in a shipyard at Quincy, Mass., and wrote the words in chalk on equipment to show he had inspected it. His repeated use everywhere was supposed to be amusing as it was obviously impossible for one Kilroy to be everywhere and do all he did at one and the same time.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve comedown or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Easy-to-Care-For Gloves—
Hand Knitted in Ireland

By PENNY SAVER

Essential part of any woman's wardrobe is white, easily-cared-for gloves. In a province where women have earned a reputation for smart sportswear it isn't surprising to find that there are gloves that fit right into the "tweedy" picture! Imported from Ireland are ones I saw this week of hand-knitted cotton. Exceptionally sturdy, these can be dunked in the washing machine and come out bright as new! Gloves sell for $1.75 a pair.

Much the same, except that they are machine made, are white cotton gloves that come from Italy. These sell at $1 a pair.

Siamese cats can never be kept out of the kitchen. At least, not the ones I saw today! Full-sized cat with protective chequered bib over his handsome chest decorates large linen tea towels from Ireland. Cheeky little mouse peeps up at his aristocratic friend! Towel of generous dimensions, it measures 29 inches by 16 inches, sells at $1.

What woman ever has enough pillow cases? Beauties I've seen have scalloped edges and lashings of hand-made embroidery and cut work. These are a wonderful buy at $2.50 a pair.

Does your little daughter love candy canes? Why not surprise her with pyjamas that have candy canes dancing all over them?

Ones I've seen have neat Peter Pan collars, clown legs that are gathered at the ankles and comfy crutch pants. Scalloped edge of jacket, collar and sleeves are trimmed in gay red and white tick-tack brand. Available in background colors of pink, blue and white. Pyjamas sell at $2.98 a pair.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Ham-Chicken
Shortcake

One-half cup whole bran cereal, ¼ cup milk, 1½ cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, 1 cup ground, cooked ham.

One-third cup butter or chicken fat, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 1 cup chicken stock, 1 cup milk, ¼ cup light cream, 3 cups diced, cooked chicken, 2 tablespoons pimiento cut in strips.

Combine whole bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Stir in ham. Add bran mixture, stirring only until combined. Spread mixture in greased 8x8-inch pan. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into pieces approximately 4x2½ inches.

Melt butter. Stir in flour, salt, pepper, nutmeg and celery salt; blend well. Add chicken stock, milk and cream gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in chicken and pimiento; heat thoroughly. To serve, split shortcakes, place spoonful of chicken sauce on bottom halves. Cover with biscuit tops and remaining chicken sauce. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

Dies In East

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Dorothy Gregg, wife of the Hon. Milton F. Gregg, V.C., warden of Medway Hall, at the University of Western Ontario, died Wednesday after a lengthy illness. She was 65.

Idle Talk Is Dear!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Two of my girlfriends and I got together and we started talking about another girl. They said some things about her that were very damaging to her reputation. (They were not true.) I am sorry to say that I joined in and did my share of talking. The rumors got around all over school and she found out who started them. Now I have lost her friendship. She is a very nice girl. Abby, I never realized how much harm could be done by just talking about a person.

LEARNED A LESSON
DEAR LEARNED: To confess a wrong and ask forgiveness is a step in the right direction. Now promise never to do it again. For those inclined to be loose of tongue—a little simplified Shakespeare: "He who steals my purse steals trash, but he who steals my good name, enriches himself not and makes me poor, indeed."

DEAR ABBY: My sister has a big hairy wart on her nose. She is always trying to shave it. We tell her she might get it infected, but she doesn't pay any attention to us. Can she get a infection from this or can't she?

SICK OF ARGUING
DEAR SICK: She can.

DEAR ABBY: I am making my daughter's school wardrobe. She is a fourth-grader and very fashion-conscious. She requested a straight skirt. Personally, I think a full skirt would look better on her, but she specifically asked for a straight skirt because she says all her friends have them. My older sister opened her big mouth. She says I am crazy to let a 9-year-old girl have what she wants. I say, my daughter might not LOOK as well in a straight skirt, but she'll be happier with it because she'll be like her friends. What do you say, Abby?

MOTHER M.
DEAR MOTHER: I say you

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Your Mannerisms, Use of Hands Are Indicative of Age

When a famous actress is portraying a role on the stage, her voice and facial expressions play an important part in the picture or rather the personality she is creating.

However, the way she sits, stands, moves, and the manner in which she uses her hands are just as impressive. Actually, when portraying age it seems to me that these are much more effective than lines in the face. A woman can have a lineless face and yet appear old when she assumes the postures and mannerisms and walk of the aged.

A woman's hands tell a lot about her. If she drums on the table or chair arms, we know she is the tense, nervous type. She does not appear to be calm and gracious. If she uses exaggerated gestures, we feel that she is making up for lack of inner security and poise.

Tenseness makes graceful movements impossible. When the shoulders are pulled back rigidly, it spoils our appearance, and when the hands are stiff in motion they are unattractive. Try the following to loosen them up and to relax you if you are the tense type. Let your arms hang at your sides. Relax your wrists and fingers and shake the hands. You should feel as though your hands and fingers might fly off into the air any moment. You can't have graceful, attractive hands if you neglect your nails. Here are a few hints about nail care. Your nails can look very distinguished without polish, if they are well manicured. Many chic women wear colorless or very light pink polish except for dressy occasions.

Most women do better with emery boards than with a steel nail file.

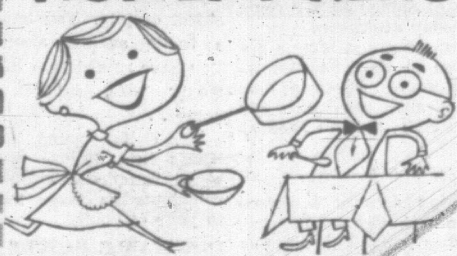

Choose an oily polish remover. This is not drying to the cuticle. The majority of us should use cuticle oil or cream especially during the winter months. If you wish to make your fingers appear more slender and longer than they are, keep the nails long but not too pointed—more like ovals. Colored nail polish makes the fingers look more tapered.

Use Precious Minutes for Beauty

The women who complain that their days just don't hold enough time for beauty care are usually the ones who spend precious minutes chatting on the telephone or gossiping with neighbors.

They dawdle in the supermarket because they don't make out a list in advance. Somehow, the day slips by and 10 p.m. finds them doing the dishes and yawning. How, they wonder, can anyone be bothered with brushing hair, doing exercises and using a face cream when time goes by so rapidly?

In reality, the time wasted could have been used for spot exercises, a hair setting and a 20-minute facial. They sound like small efforts, don't they? But these same small efforts daily keep some of Hollywood's much admired beauties looking pretty.

They haven't much time to spare in a busy day but the difference is that they are forced to make every minute count. That's why they can look as fresh at 8 p.m. as they do at 8 a.m.

ASSESSMENT

Very often, women tend to misunderstand the fact that they possess good looks. They sound odd, but it's quite true. They overlook coloring, bone structure or thick, slightly wavy hair when they start to tote up their good points. They concentrate their envy on the doll-faced kind of prettiness which does not last beyond the late 20's.

In view of the fact that each of us must live a lifetime with face and figure, this is not a commonsense point of view. Be as calmly appraising of both assets and faults as you can be.

Do what you can about the faults and then forget them. Play up the assets for all you are worth and remember, many a woman who was no beauty has built a reputation for being one simply because she knew how to play up honey-colored hair, crystal-clear skin or lovely legs.

DON'T DO IT!

Never, never set your hair when it is sopping wet. This can ruin a permanent or wreak havoc with naturally curly hair.

If you want to set your hair after a shampoo, towel it dry first and then dampen it, curl by curl. But be sure that you dampen it rather than wet it. Wet hair stretches easily and therefore is easily damaged. By working with dry hair and applying just enough moisture, you'll achieve a pretty, springy lasting curl rather than a frizzy one.

Logan-Eakin Wedding Vows Said In Gorge Presbyterian Church

Gorge Presbyterian Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums for the wedding of Miss Violet Gail Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Logan, 949 Cowichan Street, and Stanley Eakin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Eakin of New Westminster. Rev. David Murphy officiated.

Bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her white-chiffon gown had a chiffon jacket over the fitted bodice. Ruffles tiered the ballerina-length skirt. A white pearl crown held the fingertip veil. Pearl necklace and earrings were her jewelry. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

During the ceremony Mrs. J. Buttery sang "O Promise Me." Maid of honor, Miss Carol Foster, was gowned in coral tulle with headpiece on tone. These were complemented with a brown cummerbund and matching gloves. She carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Sisters of the bride, Mrs. A. Stephenson and Mrs. J. Albrecht, were her other attendants. Mrs. Stephenson wore blue chiffon with headpiece to match and Mrs. Albrecht chose a similar gown and headpiece in blue net. Both carried bouquets of pink carnations. Cpl. Fred Webber was best man and ushers were Winfried Albrecht and Clifford Stephenson.

White chrysanthemums and pink sweetheart roses decorated Loughheed Banquet Hall for a reception. Albert Mc Mullen proposed the toast. Ken Warner's orchestra played for dancing.

Out-of-town guests were Robert Logan, North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Eastham and Mr. and Mrs. E. Logan, of Qualicum, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. S. Sivertson and Mr. and Mrs. H. Osgood, 916 Empress Avenue.

Mrs. H. Kozler, Parksville, B.C., is western Canada and United States. Deep avocado suit with beige accessories was choice of bride. Couple will make their new for a honeymoon motoring trip home in Vancouver.

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces, as well as exterior.

5 GRADES

"CLEAR" Bevel SIDING
Siding of this grade is designed for use where perfection is demanded. It is mill kiln dried, has a smooth surface, full length without waste, and is available in a variety of widths and thicknesses.

"A" Bevel SIDING
Siding of this grade is selected for use where exceptionally fine appearance is desired. It is available in full length without waste and may be mixed grain (MG).

"B" Bevel SIDING
Appearance closely approaching that of the higher grades is often achieved with siding of this grade which contains slightly more characteristics and some color variations. It is available in full length without waste and may be mixed grain (MG).

"RUSTIC" Bevel SIDING
Siding of this grade is recommended for use on a small cottage, where the distinctive charm of rustic appearance is desired. Pieces are graded from the exposed or rough side which is removed. Thick edge may be rough or surfaced.

"C" Bevel SIDING
Pieces of this grade have one or more characteristics which are such as size or number that is not of a higher grade. Lengths are random with no specified percentages.

25,000 MAIL QUERIES IN DIABETES CAMPAIGN

TORONTO — More than 25,000 letters have poured into the national offices here of the Canadian Diabetic Association in response to the recent survey.

Requests have been received for 60,000 test strips, a simple method of determining if one has diabetes.

Because of this heavy volume, officials said it will be two or three weeks before all mail can be answered.

"We ask the public to be patient" a spokesman said.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(Times News Services)

LONDON — Sir Winston Churchill's stepfather made a rare but typical public statement Wednesday night.

Montague Porch, who at 82 is three years younger than Sir Winston, was asked by the Daily Mail if he sent greetings to Churchill on the former prime minister's 85th birthday Monday.

"Family affairs are secret. I refuse to comment on them," said Porch at his Glastonbury home.

Porch has shunned public attention for years. Even few of his neighbors realize the tall, gray-haired man is Churchill's stepfather.

Porch married Churchill's mother, Lady Randolph Churchill, in 1918. She died three years later.

Although a familiar figure at Glastonbury, Porch rarely travels to London. He lives well-hidden in the shadow of the most famous Englishman alive.

Porch has been quoted as saying he had rather again face the bullets of the Boer War than submit to the "stings of the snobs of London society."

MOSCOW — Izvestia complains that Russian factory-made clothes are tailored for the ideal body proportions of Apollo and Venus, but look bad on people.

Calling for reforms in factory-produced clothes the government newspaper quotes V. Popkov, director of the sewing industry's central scientific research institute, as saying:

"Up to now the wrong principle of proportions to sizes of figures is at the base of clothes design... That's why suits sewn for Apollos look bad on ordinary people."

LOS ANGELES — For a rather mynah offence—stealing a mynah bird—Richard Anaya was convicted of second-degree burglary Wednesday.

Police said he stole the valuable East Indian talking bird from a pet shop. Anaya, 23, a laborer, protested his innocence.

Why did he conceal the bird in his pocket? asked the prosecutor.

"My perro (Spanish for dog), he is very jealous when I am kind to someone else," Anaya replied.

Anaya said he kept the bird in his pocket while wrestling, playing pool and drinking.

He'll be sentenced Dec. 23.

The bird? A deputy said it died of fright.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

How to Cook In a Cubbyhole

Cooking aboard presents many problems not encountered at home. One of the most difficult is the adjustment to the small space devoted to the ship's galley. No matter how large the craft, the galley usually appears to have been squeezed in as an afterthought.

IN SHOOTING

Indian Guilty Of Assault

(Compiled From CP)

NEW WESTMINSTER — An assize court jury Wednesday night found Kenneth Basil Joe, 22, guilty on a reduced charge of assault causing grievous bodily harm.

Joe had been charged with attempted murder in the shooting last May of RCMP Constable John Clark on the Coquitlam Indian reserve near here.

Joe was remanded for sentence until the end of the assize.

Const. Clark was shot through the heart when he went to the reserve to investigate a reported disturbance.

John Robertson was credited with saving the policeman's life by driving him in a police patrol car to hospital here.

Earlier, Joe testified that he shot a police officer when he mistook him in the dark for Robertson.

Joe and Robertson had had an earlier quarrel.

"I got scared of Johnny," Joe testified. "Johnny is a big man. I got a gun to protect myself. It was dark. When I saw a flashlight coming towards me I thought it was Johnny."

SENT FOR TRIAL

VANCOUVER — Three Vancouver companies and three men were committed Wednesday for trial on charges they conspired to incorrectly label canned salmon. Committed were: John Duncan Distributors and John Duncan, manager of the firm; Fleetham Storage & Services, Ltd., and manager A. E. Fleetham; and John C. Jackson, Ltd., and Daniel Davis, firm manager.

HARD ON MARRIAGES

KELCOWNA — Married couples in Kelowna have a rate of marital discord which is "far above normal", so the city will get its own regular marriage counselling service.

CATTLE KILLED

CHILLIWACK — Fire destroyed a barn at the nearby Columbia Valley farm of E. Jannick, killing 17 cows. Cause of the blaze was not known. Neighbors fought unsuccessfully to save the livestock.

Peace Power Blueprint Running to 9 Volumes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nine hefty volumes of plans began rolling off the printing presses today in prelude to what could become the greatest industrial development in British Columbia's history.

The plans are for the $611,000,000 projected power development on the mighty Peace River, which finds its source some 600 miles northeast of here.

If the government signals approval, the rich Rocky Mountain Trench area north of Prince George will become the site of the biggest single hydro power installation in the world.

A dam 600 feet high and more than one mile long to cost an estimated $375,000,000 will create a lake 200 miles long. About 4,200,000 horsepower will be harnessed to surge through the province's power lines and future developments could boost the output as high as 8,000,000 horsepower.

DIRECTORS APPROVE

Sir Andrew MacTaggart, chairman of the directors of Peace River Power Development Company, Ltd., which Wednesday gave final approval to the plans, said that if government approval is received the company could go ahead in 1960.

Sir Andrew said the plans are being printed and will be handed to the government within two weeks.

Prerequisites to the construction start are approval by the B.C. water rights board, the public utilities commission and the cabinet.

Indications the water rights board has been carefully priming itself to deal with the complex plans are already obvious.

Deputy water controller Walter Raudsepp left for Eastern Canada earlier this week to confer with power authorities on use of high voltage long-distance power transmission, and an internationally known dam construction expert, Donald Blayfuss, has been commissioned to assist in the assessing of plans.

Other developments plans for the area of the Peace River, which flows east through northern B.C. before emptying into Alberta's Lake Athabasca, also are being formulated.

Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co., an associate company of the Peace River Power, is nearing completion of railway, forest and mineral studies. Possible start next year on a railway in the area has been indicated, which would open up the Peace River's mineral and forestry wealth.

The power plans call for initial construction of the 600-foot dam to serve a surface area of 900,000 square miles. It would be capable of storing six times the amount of water which the United States' Grand Coulee Dam holds.

Second phase entails a 150-foot high dam a few miles downstream. Power houses would be located beside both.

A high-voltage transmission line would carry the power to Greater Vancouver via Prince George, Quesnel, Williams Lake and the Fraser Valley. It would service north central B.C., the southern coast and Fraser Valley and possibly Kamloops and the Okanagan Valley.

Grits Stress Organization

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberals will concentrate on organization at the annual meeting of the party's advisory council here Monday and Tuesday, the National Liberal Federation said today.

The session will be the second since the party suffered a crushing defeat from the Progressive Conservatives in the 1958 general election. It now has 51 of the Commons' 265 seats.

Party Leader Pearson will address a dinner Tuesday night.

U.S. SEIZES CUBA BOMBERS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Five Cubans face federal prosecution for attempting a flight, possibly over their homeland, with home-made bombs. They were seized lugging three bombs from an automobile to an airplane on a seldom-used airstrip south of Miami Sunday.

Customs supervising agent Joseph A. Fortier said the bombs totalling 96 pounds contained a nitroglycerine compound which had begun to leak in their containers and had reached a critically dangerous stage.

Reds Oppose A-Blast Test Of Controls

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia today opposed setting off any nuclear test explosions even to test effectiveness of a control and detection system that might be set up under a proposed ban on hydrogen and atomic bomb tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin raised the objection at today's nuclear conference session in suggested amendments to a U.S. draft article on the role of the administrator of the seven nation control commission which will police a ban.

The U.S. version gave the administration the right—with U.S., British and Soviet approval—to order new nuclear explosions and a research and development program to test the complicated police system in the light of improved scientific findings.

Bookie Slain In Cafe

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP) — A bookmaker, described by police as the biggest in the nearby San Fernando Valley, was shot to death at a restaurant Wednesday night while gambler Mickey Cohen and about 20 other patrons looked on.

Jack F. Whalen, 41, was shot twice in the head. Police said he slumped to the floor and rolled over on his side as his slayer calmly walked out of the restaurant.

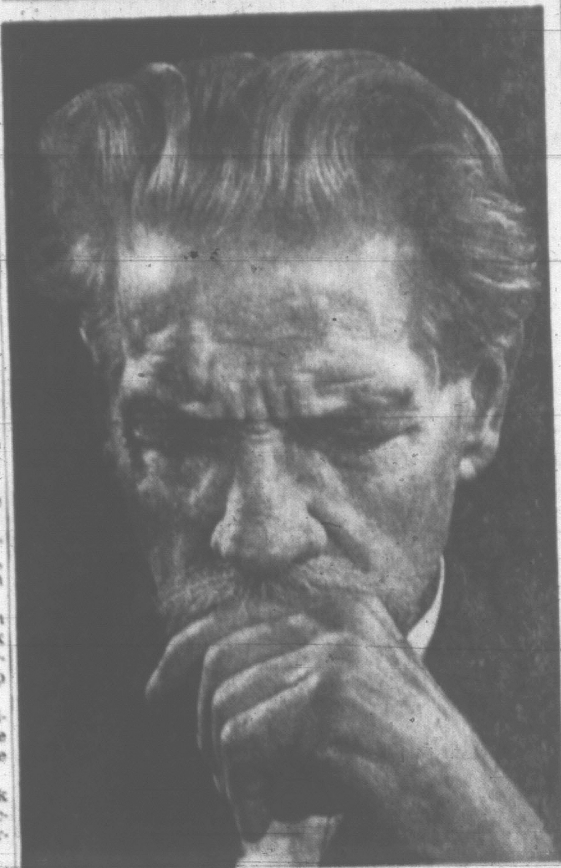

Inspector Ed Walker gave this version of the shooting: Whalen's assailant was eating when the bookie walked in, approached his table and then punched him in the face.

Walker said the man then drew a gun, fired point-blank at Whalen and left the restaurant before anyone could stop him.

Police have not yet identified the killer. None of the patrons was able to describe him, they said.

Whalen, also known as Jack O'Hara, had a long police record, starting with juvenile arrest in 1938.

Cohen was apparently just a customer at the time of the shooting.

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER
... Karsh's best — "essential greatness"

NEW GALLERY OF 96 PORTRAITS

Karsh Reveals His Method

TORONTO (CP) — Yousuf Karsh presents a gallery of 96 of his most memorable portraits in a new book — but the photo that satisfies him most is one of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the noted humanitarian.

Subjects in the book, Portraits of Greatness, include royalty and men and women distinguished in the arts, science, medicine, government and business.

The 85-year-old Schweitzer, who 46 years ago turned his back on a brilliant career in Europe to conduct a jungle hospital in French Equatorial Africa, appears in the Karsh photo with eyes closed in deep contemplation. The picture was taken in 1954 when Schweitzer visited his native Alsace two years after winning the Nobel Peace Prize.

DEEPLY SATISFYING

The Ottawa photographer told The Canadian Press the Schweitzer portrait "satisfies me most both as a portrait and as the portrayal of the essential greatness of a living man."

"I think Albert Schweitzer is a great and good man, and that the portrait I was fortunate to make reflects something of his heart and mind."

Some of the pictures are carefully composed. Many show some unusual sparkle of the subject's personality.

Sir Thomas Beecham, the terrible-tempered British conductor, looks almost benign. The American poet, Robert Frost, "they call me Scarface Frost from Chicago," sprawls in an armchair in his studio. Sir Jacob Epstein, the British sculptor, poses in overalls, his left hand unconsciously adopting the attitude of the hand of a monumental statue behind him.

DESCRIPTIVE SITTINGS

In text accompanying the pictures, Karsh tells of the conversation and details of each sitting. Camera fans may be disappointed by lack of photographic details with each but in an appendix, Karsh tells about his work.

He develops his own film and supervises the "master" print. He nearly always uses an 8x10 inch camera with a full range of Ektar lenses. Occasionally he uses a 4x5 view camera or a Rolleiflex. He also has a 35-millimetre Leica and a Kodak Retina reflex, one for black-and-white and one for color.

His film is Kodak Portrait Pan, Super Panchro Type B and Super XX. In 35-millimetre cameras he used Tri-X and Verichrome in the Rolleiflex.

In black-and-white photography Karsh uses exposure metres "only if I think the reading coincides with what I feel it should be." In color, though, he is often guided by the meter.

His book, published by University of Toronto Press, was printed in The Netherlands by the famed Enschede firm of Haarlem.

Photos have been reproduced by sheeted gravure and the text by offset lithography.

WANT GAS, NOT BLUBBER ESKIMOS PETITION IKE

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Eskimos in this Alaska arctic coast village, who once kept warm in igloos with blubber-fueled fires, have appealed to President Eisenhower to give them gas.

"Natural gas goes right by our doors but we can't tap it," State Senator Eben Hopson, an Eskimo, wrote the White House.

Hopson complained federal offices, agencies and homes in Barrow, whose population of 1,300 is 5-1 Eskimo, are heated by natural gas from the nearby federal reserves.

Despairing of government red tape, Hopson wrote Eisenhower that "If you, as president of the United States, can help my people who are poor and in desperate need of inexpensive fuel to warm their homes and cook their food we will be forever grateful."

Speech on Way Out, Thought-Talk Coming

CHICAGO (AP) — A British medical expert says human speech "as we know it is on its way out as an instrument of communication."

Dr. Macdonald Critchley, of London, a neurologist, gave that opinion in a panel discussion at the University of Chicago's Charles Darwin centennial.

"The spoken and written word are getting farther apart," Critchley said. "The time will come when a majority of humans will be able neither to read nor write."

First, Critchley said, a type of world language such as a super-espanto will be developed.

Eventually, possibly in hundreds of years, that will be supplanted, Critchley said, by some form of thought transference. Under that system ideas will be conveyed through what is called extra sensory perception.

TRAGEDY STALKS POLE'S LIFE

19 Years of Hope Crushed

LONDON (AP) — Mikolaj Para, a Pole, was captured by the Russians 19 years ago. He fought a war and drifted to Britain never knowing in all those years what had happened to his wife or their children.

He came to Britain with many other Poles in 1946. He still didn't know if his wife, or any child, had survived the battles fought across Poland.

Para began a new life. One day, a schoolboy's letter arrived from Communist-ruled Poland. It was signed "Zbigniew Para," and Mikolaj knew it was his son.

From then on the father's main object was to bring his wife and son to this country.

The Communist authorities said the son could not apply for an exit visa until he was 19. They said nothing about the wife.

Finally the time came, the boy applied, and last Sunday he arrived in London.

The father came here from the industrial town of Letchworth for a joyous reunion. He took his handsome son to his home and they talked through the night and the following day.

Then, the father, a steel worker, had to go on the night shift.

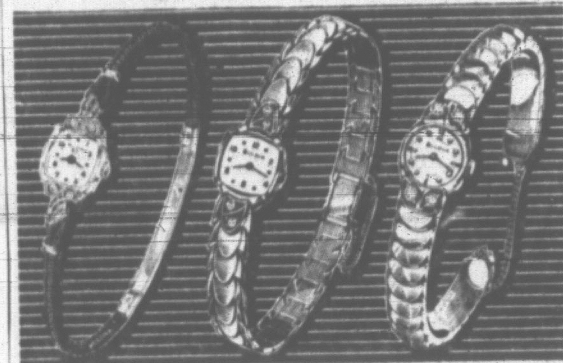

When he returned Tuesday he found his son dead in a gas-filled bedroom. A coroner found the youth had died accidentally from asphyxiation and blamed a faulty chimney.

"When he arrived on Sunday," the father told police, "it was the happiest moment of my life. He was happy, too. Now he's dead — after all those years of waiting and hoping."

LOCAL BRIEFS

The two-hour parking limit on streets south and west of the Legislative Buildings will be extended to cover the 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. period if city council accepts a public works recommendation made Tuesday. Committee was told the present restriction period between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. was not succeeding in deterring all-day parkers.

Next meeting of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society will take place in the music room of Victoria Public Library on Thursday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m. A brief to be presented to the Joint Parliamentary Committee on Indian Affairs will be considered.

Total returns in the Greater Victoria Community Chest campaign reached $290,000 today and officials are still hoping to achieve a total of $300,000.

The campaign officially closed two weeks ago but sums promised are still being collected.

Two minors in possession of liquor each were fined $15 when they pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday.

Christopher George Topliss, 2316 Howard, was caught with wine on Trans-Canada Highway and Harry Neufeld, 20, of 619 Avalon, had 10 bottles of beer on Patricia Bay Highway, police said.

Dr. J. T. Beesley, educated in Victoria and graduate of Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport, Iowa, has returned to the city to practice.

He interned two years at the Palmer School, and did post-graduate work at the Toffness School of Chiropractic in Cumberland, Wis. For the past two years he has been practicing in Alberta.

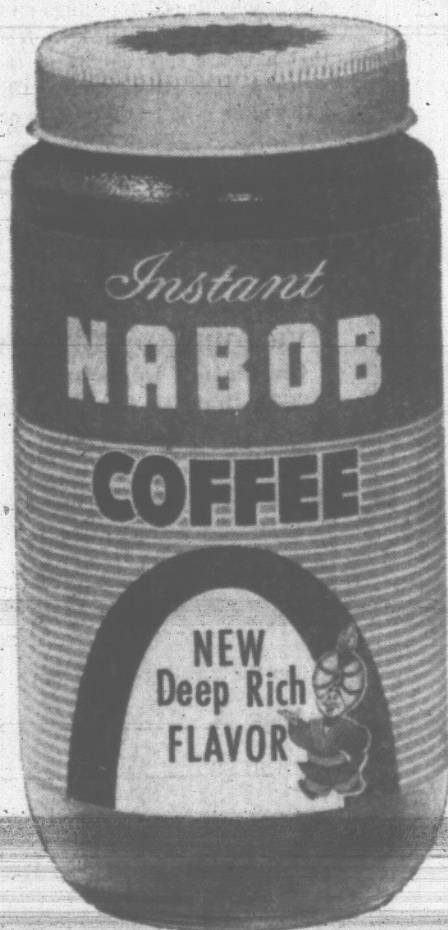

U.S. Longshoremen To Vote on Pact

NEW STAMPS TO FEATURE 'CANADIANA'

OTTAWA (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth will have to share top billing with something "specifically Canadian" on Canada's future postage stamps.

Postmaster-General William Hamilton announced today that the Queen's portrait, which now occupies almost the entire area of regular issue stamps, will be reduced in the new issues.

Sharing the spotlight on the stamps of the future will be a Canadian symbol. It may vary with each denomination.

Hamilton said that three commemorative stamps were planned for the new year. They will honor the 300th anniversary of the stand of Dollard in defending Montreal at the Long Sault, the 50th anniversary of the Girl Guides movement in Canada, and the country's natural and renewable resources.

All will be designed by Canadian artists.

FORCED TO SELL FOOD AT LOSS

Farmers Will Fight for 'Fair Return'

The B.C. Federation of Agriculture Wednesday resolved in a windup convention session that it would put up a determined fight for "fair returns" for their farm products in the province.

Resolutions were passed aimed at protecting the marketing of their products from "cut throat competition" which they claimed is forcing them to sell food at a loss.

The farmer delegates also agreed to press the provincial government to reduce taxation on land which they said was contributing towards the high costs of operating their farms.

CAUGHT IN SQUEEZE

Among their staunch supporters for a better deal for the farming industry was Dr. Blyth Eagles, dean of the faculty of agriculture at the University of British Columbia, who was present at the two-day convention at Empress Hotel.

Farmers are justified in complaining about the returns they are receiving for their products," he said. "They are caught between a price squeeze caused by a number of factors."

But what concerned the university professor who has watched the progress of agriculture through the years, was the lack of understanding and sympathy farmers are receiving from the average city dweller.

"Many city dwellers are under the impression the farmer is earning a good living," he said. "But the fact is, the opposite is true."

It was his opinion that farmers would have to take definite steps to acquaint the public with the true facts of their business.

"People don't realize that an agricultural revolution has taken place in the past 10 years," he said. "They don't understand the new problems facing farmers."

The farmer today, he said, was a minority in society, whereas he was in the majority 100 years ago. This, he explained had placed him at a disadvantage with regards to presenting his case to the general public.

On the subject of food production, Dr. Eagles said he agreed with Dr. Brock Chisholm that a world food bank or distribution organization should be set up to assist underprivileged nations.

AID TO INDUSTRY

Apart from the humanity angle, he said, a world food bank would be of benefit to both the farmer and industry.

He said the farmer would no longer be restricted to quotas and the amount of food he could grow. It would permit him to make the maximum use of his land for the production of meat and crops.

Victoria Daily Times THURS., DEC. 3, 1959 33

ISLANDER NAMED FEDERATION HEAD

H. D. Arnold, Duncan poultryman and a former lawyer, was re-elected president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture at the farm organization's annual convention which ended here Wednesday.

J. M. Kosty, Vernon fruit grower, was re-elected vice-president.

A total of 15 directors were appointed. They were:

Dairying: Archie Stevenson, Duncan; G. W. Park, Pitt Meadows; and John Fowler, Armstrong; farmers' institutes: V. E. Virgin, Saanich; Art Swenson, Ladner; and Ben Aten, Salmon Arm; poultry: H. D. Arnold and Eric Flowerdew, Langley; livestock: W. E. Martin, Vancouver; and Mel Mitchell, Richmond; vegetables: A. C. Hope, Langley; and Bernard Pow, Vernon; tree fruits: John Kosty, Vernon; and N. C. Taylor, Kelowna; small fruits: S. E. Sorensen, Matsqui; feed grain: L. A. Currie, Cloverdale; seeds, bulbs and miscellaneous: Cliff Winskill, Ladner.

The first helicopter crossing of the Atlantic was made in 1952 by way of Labrador, Greenland, Iceland and Scotland.

H. D. ARNOLD re-elected

Mr. Walls felt that the various agricultural groups should get together to determine the cost factor and the risks they wished to carry.

Among other resolutions endorsed was one requesting the government to increase the exemption on farm buildings from $5,000 to $10,000 for general municipal and school tax purposes.

Saanich growers at the meeting also complained that their farm lands were being assessed too high.

The federation decided to ask the government to investigate the matter.

This would require more farm machinery and as a result industry would benefit.

Dr. Blyth also had a word to say on the conservation of the province's natural resources.

Forests and water, he said, were important factors in preserving farm lands.

INSURANCE ASKED

Delegates at the closing session endorsed a resolution requesting the provincial government to establish a system of crop insurance across the province.

Charles E. Walls, managing secretary, said such a scheme was now in effect on a trial basis in Manitoba.

He said the Manitoba scheme required farmers to pay 80 per cent of the cost while the province paid the other 20 per cent.

"Prairie farmers have found this over-all insurance better than their hail insurance," he said. "It gives them better protection."

'Serving Two Masters'

ALD. GEOFFREY EDGELOW
...resents "innuendoes"

J. Donald Smith is proposing to "serve two masters," in putting up for election as mayor, Mayor Percy Scurrah told a Victoria West campaign meeting Wednesday night.

"I do not think he can do an adequate job as mayor and sit in the legislature at the same time," Mr. Scurrah said.

"The interests of the city are very often in conflict with party or government policy... The job of mayor is a full-time job and I have given my whole time to it."

Mr. Scurrah said he noted from the Victoria Times of April 23, 1953, that Mr. Smith had said in a provincial election speech that no man could serve two masters.

"He appears to have changed his mind since."

MADE A PROMISE

George Banfield, chairman, said at that time Mr. Smith had "promised on his honor that he would not again enter civic politics while he was an M.L.A."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said he resented "the innuendoes and false charges" made by Mr. Smith "without any attempt to back them up."

"He has made the people wonder if there is something funny going on at City Hall. I can assure you that there isn't."

'Brains Trust' Urged To Find New Industry

Property owners in Victoria are bearing "altogether too great a share" of educational costs, Mayor Percy Scurrah told a civic election campaign meeting in Victoria West school Wednesday night.

"We are asking the provincial government to take over 65 per cent of educational operating costs," the mayor told an applauding audience of some 35 persons.

He received further applause from the friendly meeting when he called for the establishment of clean secondary light industries in the Victoria area.

"I believe this can be done," he said, "and I have suggested the setting up of a voluntary committee of retired businessmen to explore all opportunities."

"There is a tremendous pool of business know-how among our retired businessmen which is not being used. This committee would find out what labor and lands are available and then go after the people who could set up these industries."

'A Gold Mine'

The mayor said he had heard of a small concern in Saanichton which manufactured some kind of vitamin pill and was "a small gold mine."

He suggested firms engaged in electronics, medical research and plastics could be persuaded to set up light industries which would not involve high freight costs and would not harm the tourist industry.

"Several experts have been to see me lately and I am convinced the prospects for these industries exist."

Mayor Scurrah called for development of Patricia Bay Airport, saying it should be working to capacity now that Vancouver Airport is overcrowded.

Tourist Expansion

He urged conversion of Victoria College into a university, increasing its payroll from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 a year and providing additional employment.

He said the tourist industry would have to be expanded since opening of the government ferries between here and the mainland next year would enable Victoria to bring many more visitors to the island.

He favored early establishment of a family and children's court.

Mayor Scurrah said the downtown parking problem "should never have been made an issue in this election."

The parking bylaw which was passed last year had been challenged in the courts and was still not settled. During the year interest rates had gone up. The bylaw called for a 5 1/2 per cent interest rate and the city would have to sell bonds at a considerable discount.

"That bylaw should be placed before the people before money is spent on the parking problem... some very wild and irresponsible statements have been made. It has been said we are going to spend $1,000,000. Quite untrue."

Answering a question from the audience Mayor Scurrah said the downtown area is being choked with traffic and business downtown has declined as a result.

"We must provide off-street parking and make the downtown area a pleasant place in which to shop."

Make a Profit

He said there is no reason why the proposed downtown parking building should cost the taxpayer a dime. It should make a profit of $15,000 a year after all taxes had been paid.

Mayor Scurrah stated emphatically that the city council was not responsible for a big increase in assessment on older houses during the past year.

"The provincial government appointed an equalization board and that board insisted that all properties be assessed on their sale value of 1953. The value of property has gone up and this is particularly true of the older houses."

Mayor Scurrah claimed to have carried out "the promises I made when you elected me four years ago" and he concluded:

"I am prepared to serve you again for another two years, and I believe we can give you efficient government as we have done in the past."

Bizarre Suicide Bid

'FAKE' SLAYER FREED BY JURY

LONDON (UPI) — Richard Hodson, a 28-year-old Irishman who wanted to commit suicide but was too cowardly, confessed to a hammer slaying he never committed. Then when the shadow of the gallows fell across him he told all.

"The trouble was that last summer I was smoking reefer and taking drugs," he said. "I was very depressed. I never had more than a few shillings."

"I wanted to die. But I had not the nerve to commit suicide."

"Confessing to a murder seemed the only way out." He recalled the unsolved hammer slaying of fellow

Irishman John O'Shea in London in April, 1956, and spent a week last summer reading newspaper files to familiarize himself with the crime.

His story was so watertight Scotland Yard never questioned it. Detectives had interrogated more than 3,000 persons in a vain hunt for the killer of O'Shea, a thrifty laborer who was slain and robbed in a rooming house.

Told Police 'Crime Had Preyed on His Mind'

Last Aug. 22 Hodson walked into a Fleet Street newspaper office and confessed. Later he told newsmen and police guilt had been preying on his mind.

The prosecution, armed with a four-page, detailed confession, brought Hodson to trial this week. There were no witnesses for the prosecution, but police said the confession was enough.

It was then Hodson began having second thoughts. The particular murder was punishable by hanging, and the thought of death was too terrifying so Hodson recanted.

"It just came to me that it was not worth dying for something I hadn't done," he said in court. But the trial continued.

Then two friends testified Hodson was in Dublin when the murder was committed.

The jury found him innocent yesterday.

"I thought I was certain to hang," Hodson said. "I never thought the jury would believe my confessions were false. I still can't believe I'm free. And I shall never confess to anything again—not even my name."

Gov't 'Pride' Blocking Report?

BONNER
... no whims

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner told a student audience Wednesday night the provincial government refuses to publish the Carrothers Report on the civil service because of an ultimatum laid down by the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

"If the civil servants lay out an ultimatum, then the government won't comply," the attorney-general told 2,000 UBC students.

"Any good government would refuse such an ultimatum."

HECKLER

With the author of the report, Prof. Alfred Carrothers, sitting in the audience, a student heckler asked Mr. Bonner if work of government should stop because its pride was hurt.

NO WHIMS

"Would you personally publish the report?" asked another student.

Mr. Bonner said cabinet ministers don't take government action on their own whims.

Commenting later on the attorney-general's remarks, A.

C. Bennett, president of the Employees Association, said there is no ultimatum before the government at present.

"Whether or not an ultimatum laid down last March will be continually held over us I don't know," he said.

Mr. Bennett was referring to the association's demands last year for release of the Carrothers report and recognition of bargaining rights for provincial civil servants. The demand was followed by strike action by the 12,000 government employees.

"What happened last March is one thing," said Mr. Bennett. "What will happen when we next meet with the government is another."

He said the association now has a request in to the government for a meeting and it is expected "at any time."

HOUSEHOLDERS CAN RESIST UNWANTED MAIL

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office department said Wednesday there's only one sure way for Canadian householders to stop the flow of advertising material into their mail boxes.

Any person who objects to receiving this material — usually mixed in with regular mail — can refuse to accept delivery of it. They can meet the postman at the door and tell him to take it back. He will. Although the postal authorities didn't say it, there is one other course of action.

They can accept the material, then place it in a sealed envelope without their return address and mail it back to the sender. It's a long-standing postal rule that mail not bearing postage carries double indemnity to the addressee on delivery.

The advertiser could, of course, refuse to accept delivery of the collect material. In that case it would go to the dead-letter office.

SHIPS CRASH IN FOG, 80 PASSENGERS SAVED

The tiny boats bobbed "like nutshells" in the rough seas but there was no loss of life, it was reported.

2 PLANES COULD MAKE ALASKA BASES USELESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of Alaska's defences was quoted today as saying that "as things now stand, it would take only two enemy bombers to put Alaskan bases out of action."

Flying Magazine, a trade publication, quoted Lt. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr., commander of Alaska's joint services defence force, as adding: "If these attacks were followed up with paratroop landings, Alaska itself would be lost."

"With Russians in the Fairbanks and Anchorage areas, President Eisenhower would have to decide quickly whether to bomb Alaska or leave the rest of the country open to close-range attack from Red troops along the Yukon."

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Wheat Demand Grows Rapidly

This is the fifth in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

For western Canadian farmers the largest commercial fact in Japan is that 10 million school children eat a free lunch every day and it always includes a generous chunk of bread made from Canadian wheat.

Those youngsters, besides millions of adults, have acquired a taste for bread in place of rice, Japan's traditional basic food. As they grow up they will continue to eat bread and feed it to their children. While rice will remain a basic food, the market for Canadian wheat in Japan, already large, will continue to grow—provided Canada buys abundantly from Japan and gives it a fair chance to earn Canadian dollars. In the first nine months of this year Japan, our second wheat market, next to Britain, paid $54.5 millions to Canadian growers. Of the $130 millions worth of products we export to Japan by the year's end about half will be wheat. Adding flour, seeds of various kinds, cattle hides, grease and tallow, our agricultural sales to Japan in the first three quarters of the year totalled about $70 millions.

TRUCK SKIDS INTO BUS, 3 GIRLS DIE

ROLPHOTON, Ont. (UPI) — Three girls were crushed to death today when a jack-knifing tractor-trailer swept across a slush-covered highway and pinned them against a school bus.

Police said the girls had just left the bus and were about to cross Highway 17 to enter the Meilleurs Bay schoolhouse when the truck driver spotted the stopped vehicle. He tried to stop his heavy truck, but it banged into the rear of the bus and then toppled onto the girls who were standing nearby.

The victims were Sheila and April Dakin, aged nine and six respectively, and nine-year-old Mildred Elliott, all of Chalk River, Ont.

Phony Art Masterpiece Ring Broken

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police broke up what was described as one of the biggest fake masterpiece rackets in the nation's history today by arresting two Russian-born art dealers and seizing 400 paintings with signatures ranging from Rembrandt to Picasso.

The arrested men, Boris Lass, 64, and his brother, Mark, 61, claimed the collection was gathered by their mother before the Russian revolution and had a current value of $25,000,000. Experts from the Metropolitan and Modern Art Museums called in by District Attorney Frank Hogan said they were fakes, apparently the work of students imitating old and modern masters.

The Lassses, proprietors of the Remi Gallery in the heart of the Madison Avenue gallery district, were charged in a 25-count indictment with attempted grand larceny, counterfeiting labels, and false and misleading advertising. Authorities said they did not know how many "masterpieces" the men had been able to sell.

PORT COQUITLAM (CP) — David Bell, 13, was killed Wednesday night when his bicycle collided with a truck.

TEAMSTERS TO IGNORE MOST PICKET LINES

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa says teamsters union members in the future will ignore with one exception—all picket lines set up by other unions.

"All teamsters locals will have orders," Hoffa, teamsters president, told reporters Wednesday, "to drive through recognition, organizational and primary picket lines."

"The teamsters will make an exception on primary picket lines if the striking union will guarantee the teamsters against any possible loss through lawsuits, government action or any other expense incurred by the teamsters."

A primary strike is one called by a union recognized under law as the collective bargaining agent for workers at a specified company.

(See Story, Page 21)

Mayor Percy Scurrah and Police Chief John Blackstock today took strong exception to the super sonic explosion Wednesday night believed caused by U.S. jet aircraft.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he would protest to Defence Minister George Pearkes. He received an irate letter this morning from a patient at the Veterans' Hospital.

"I certainly will make a protest to Defence Minister Pearkes to see if this can be prevented in future," he said. "There's lots of country or ocean that they could fly over instead of our cities."

"Travelling at about 11 miles a minute, it would only take them seconds to veer over water in order to avoid this city," the mayor said.

The letter to the mayor was from two-war veteran T. Anderson, who said there was "no valid reason" for American aircraft breaking the sound barrier over Canadian cities.

"I'm still shaking," he wrote. Chief Blackstock thinks police should be warned in advance of proposed jet plane exercises over Victoria.

He said prior notification would assist police in handling inquiries and ease their minds. Wednesday night's sonic boom resulted in a deluge of queries at the police station, tying up three telephone lines for about a half hour.

Chief Blackstock said, he himself was unable to get through to the police charge office for 15 minutes. He cautioned citizens to refrain from telephoning the police station immediately after hearing such an explosion.

"In a real emergency the police would be swamped, unable to get distress calls or call out for additional men to handle a situation," he said.

Korea Campaign Kickoff Tonight

This forlorn little Chinese refugee boy above is one of 25,000 in Hong Kong supplied Canadian milk by the United Nations Service Committee, whose executive director, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, addresses a public gathering at 8 tonight in Oak Bay Junior High School.

This will be the start of the annual appeal through The Times on behalf of vital UN work in foreign countries.

Objective is $15,000 from Greater Victoria for construction of a milk plant in South Korea, for war-crippled children.

Handicraft work of the 150 disabled children in the Sam Yook home will be shown at the meeting. Dr. Hitschmanova's address will be entitled "The Magic Keys," and she will also show a film she took herself in Korea and India dealing with refugee work.

Wall of Water Devastates Area

FREJUS, France (Reuters) — The death toll in one of Europe's worst flood disasters was set officially at 270 late today as rescue workers continued to recover bodies from the muddy devastation of this Riviera town.

Official figures, issued in Paris said there also were 60 injured and about 50 missing—millions of tons of water banked up behind the 185-foot Malpaset dam by five days of heavy rain, churned into the peacefully sleeping farm valley Wednesday night, tearing away houses, hurling big trucks about like toys, uprooting trees, splintering telegraph and telephone poles and cutting all communications with the outside.

Not until the sombre dawn, hours after the Malpaset dam burst, was the full tragedy apparent.

The narrow valley 16 miles southwest of Cannes was a jumbled heap of twisted wreckage. The rampaging waters partially flooded this town of 13,500, heaving on the hilly, rocky coast—one of the landing spots in the Allied invasion of southern France in August, 1944.

Frejus, originally founded by Julius Caesar in 49 B.C., is a quiet country place set against a background of the tangled foothills of the Alps. It is seldom visited by tourists.

"Within two minutes of the dam bursting, there was nine feet of water in the lower-lying parts of Frejus."

Earlier, while the peak of the flood was still raging, one rescue worker reported the roaring waters were "tumbling farms and houses as if they were cards and tearing away the railroad line like it was made of straw."

At the naval air station, one sailor was hurled against an outdoor basketball backboard and spent two hours wedged between the board and the steel ring before rescued.

The hospital at Frejus—luckily on high ground—was jammed with injured and survivors suffering from shock and exposure. The morgue at the hospital was lined with bodies.

Rescue workers in rubber boats tried to reach isolated houses and bring the injured and stick to shelter.

Authorities invoked an emergency "calamity plan" allowing the requisitioning of all available means for relief and rescue work in the area. Troops, police and firemen rushed here from a wide area to carry out rescue work.

Terrified families were swept downstream, struggling to stay together. Many had just gone to bed when the flood struck. One 85-year-old woman floated seven hours on her bedroom dresser.

A doctor at Frejus hospital said the torrent "was worse than any tidal wave—the water surged over houses, pulverizing them."

Agonized cries for help were heard throughout the night, but no help was immediately available for the villages upstream.

It took many hours to get the first rescue teams there, and the weary rescuers found many people missing and survivors often wandering in dazed silence.

Frejus was without electricity, running water, gas or telephone service. The town about four miles below the Malpaset Dam, suffered less than the isolated villages up the valley. It was feared no houses were left standing along the upper reaches of the river.

The wall of water was six feet high when it reached the town. Upstream it may have

CBS BANS FREE PLUGS ON TELEVISION SHOWS

NEW YORK (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, the Columbia Broadcasting System will eliminate from television shows commercials advertising products other than the sponsor's.

The latest CBS cleanup move strikes at a little-publicized but profitable practice of charging manufacturers for having their products used as show prizes.

Also barred are free plugs for airlines and other transportation facilities.

But as they assured me at Japan's largest flour mill, beside Yokohama harbor, the Japanese market for Canadian wheat is only in its first stage of development and can be expanded indefinitely, if Japan can earn enough dollars to pay for larger imports.

The manager of the mill, an expert who had travelled the world and inspected Canadian crops in the growing season, paused before a glass sample case and pointed to its golden contents.

"Canadian wheat," he said, "the best on earth. There is no substitute."

Japan imports large quantities of soft and semi-hard wheat from the United States—exports usually subsidized by the American government—but little of it is used in bread flour.

Bread sold to the Japanese

Purchases Limited By Government

The flour-milling industry would import still more Canadian wheat to satisfy a growing appetite for bread if it could secure the necessary foreign exchange.

Its purchases are strictly limited, however, by the government which, through its central food agency, buys all foreign wheat and sells it to the millers at a profit, or hidden tax, of nearly 25 per cent.

These imports are fixed in advance under the government's semi-annual foreign exchange budget, a system of control designed to protect the nation's precious supplies of hard currencies.

While wheat imports from hard-currency countries like Canada are definitely limited consumer by the commercial bakeries is made almost entirely of Canadian wheat because it is the best. The huge baking industry, which makes virtually all bread sold in Japan, (the housewife has no oven), is determined to turn out the highest possible product and, thus, increase the public taste for it.

Obviously the baking industry has made remarkable progress. The use of wheat in Japan has increased threefold since the last war, with imports running currently at the rate of about 2,300,000 tons a year, of which about 900,000 tons will come from Canada.

Every year wheat consumption rises between 3 and 5 per cent. Before the war 50 per cent of all flour was used to make noodles, 30 per cent in bread and the rest in confectionery. Now bread requires 40 per cent of all flour, and noodles about the same.

they must increase, the millers told me, to satisfy not only the present appetite for bread but an appetite which will grow for two reasons.

First, the existing Japanese population of about 92,000,000 will demand more bread; second, the population will rise by about 15,000,000 in the next generation before it levels off as a result of systematic birth control and wholesale legal abortion.

So far as the Canadian grain farmer is concerned, everything will depend on Japan's supplies of dollars. They can be earned only by sales in the dollar area and at present, as in all recent years, Japan has suffered a heavy trade deficit in the Canadian market.

Money Spent Returned With Interest

Every dollar we spend in Japan, and more, returns to us in the form of Japanese purchases, half of them for wheat. But Japan is not bound to buy wheat here. If it is pressed for dollars it can buy almost as good wheat as ours from Russia (though the cost of shipping would be higher), it can import more semi-hard United States wheat and softer Australian wheat, as the Australian Government hopes and plans, if the quality of Japanese bread is slightly debased.

Canada's problem is not to prove the quality of its wheat, already recognized in Japan as the best, but to make sure that Japan has enough dollars to buy it in ever-increasing volume.

As Japan earns more dollars

by sales in our market it will certainly buy more of our wheat and a great part of it need not be of the highest grade. At present Japan uses large quantities of Numbers 2 and 3, sometimes Number 4, and is currently buying 200,000 tons of low grades for animal feed.

Our future sales of barley in Japan are unlikely to be important, for some years anyway.

Barley is used mainly as a substitute for rice and, after five successive bumper crops, Japan is producing all the rice it needs for its present population, though it still fulfills its long-term agreements to buy some rice from Thailand and Formosa.

Bumper Rice Crop Taken As Normal

These bumper crops, their price supported by the state, are now accepted as normal—the result of a rapid improvement in growing methods, the massive use of fertilizers, the mechanization of the two-acre farms with tiny hand tractors, threshing machines and irrigation pumps, and the work of experimental farms, one of which I inspected on the great Tokyo Plain.

A nation geographically smaller than California actually produces about 80 per cent of its own food, including 1, 200,000 tons of soft wheat grown in the winter months on the summer rice paddies.

A rising population will require more imported foods, mainly wheat, and the wheat will come mainly from the nations like Canada where Japan can sell its manufactured goods. More than any other Canadian, the farmer has a vital stake in Japanese imports. As the manager of the nation's largest milling company told me: "Buy from Japan and we'll buy more and more Canadian wheat—the best on earth."

towered 40 feet in narrow stretch of the valley.

The dam spillways were opened wider only Wednesday after a helicopter survey warned engineers of impending danger. But at 9:45 p.m. the dam burst.

At the time of its construction in 1952-53 the gently curving concrete irrigation dam was the thinnest in the world, measuring only 22 feet at its thickest.

District Governor Jean-Charles Rouleau reported that the dam had been completely swept away.

"Nothing remains," Rouleau said. "The dam had been inspected only a few months ago to find out if it could withstand the explosions which were going on at nearby construction work. Everything was declared normal."

The dam caretaker said that three hours after he opened the floodgates he heard "a terrible cracking" sound, and immediately the dam collapsed.

Bridges along the normally peaceful river were carried away. The naval base at St. Raphael was under several feet of water.

The scene for miles along the Mediterranean shore was desolate. The same storms lashed the coasts of Italy, the Greek Islands and North Africa.

SHOPS SHATTERED

Sand lay heaped along the famed English promenade in Nice. Fashionable seaside restaurants were shattered by waves.

Firemen paddled rubber boats into the cellars of a gambling casino to salvage thousands of bottles of wines.

At least half the damage was counted at Antibes, where villas undermined by giant waves partially collapsed and part of the sea coast road was washed away. One casualty was the luxurious villa of American movie magnate Jack Warner.

'A Town That Has Been Bombed Out'

By ROBERT AHIER

FREJUS (UPI)—This is a village of water, muck, mud, death, destruction, tears and frenzy.

The water, the muck, the mud are everywhere. Wreckage is everywhere. The tears are in the eyes of the many who have lost loved ones, whole families.

The frenzy is in the hearts of those still seeking fathers, wives, sons, babies, friends.

Frejus looks like a town that has been bombed out. Half of this pleasant Riviera village of 14,000 was washed away.

Washed away... two words and lifetimes of work and love destroyed in the night, while most of Frejus' people slept. Many of the dead are children, killed as they lay asleep just before midnight.

The people tell you the water

came from the broken dam with a roar like an army of tanks, or a low-flying armada of heavy bombing planes.

The water swept up and carried along almost everything in its path, something like a bulldozer that had a blade eight yards high. Beds with people in them. Cribs with babies. Walls, furniture, and in the surrounding farmland, cattle and fences.

Houses caught by the full force of the water crumbled like sand castles washed by seaside waves.

Here lies a truck, tossed like a splinter on the shoulder of a road five yards above the right-of-way. A small sedan is perched in a tree.

Uprooted trees lie everywhere. Last night these trees were murderous battering rams, smashing people and houses, puncturing stone walls.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mixed Trend Noted At Toronto, New York

Trading was mixed on both Toronto and New York stock markets today.

The Toronto exchange continued to hover around lower levels amid light and uninteresting trading. At New York the trend was upward.

International Paper was still the big industrial winner at 130. Cocksfoot went up 1/2 at 20 1/2. Ogilvie Flour was the biggest loser with a one-point drop at 48.

Oils were a feature at New York with gains running about a point or more. Steels and motors also held firm but most other groups were irregular.

AT TORONTO mines, with the exception of one or two lower-priced issues were exceptionally quiet. In senior uranium Consolidated Denison gained 15 cents at $80 and Gunnar was up 20 cents at $9.50.

Western oils were quiet with few changes. Losses were well ahead of gains.

AT NEW YORK Dome Mines and Walker Gooderham, both gained 1/2. McIntyre Porcupine was up 1/2. Aluminum Ltd. and Canadian Pacific Hudson Bay Mining and International Nickel all gained 1/2.

On the American exchange, Scurry Rainbow Oil gained 1/2. Fargo Oil 1/2 and Brazilian Traction and Shawinigan both 1/2 while Canadian Marconi lost 1/2.

AT MONTREAL prices remained narrowly mixed despite fairly active trading today on the stock exchange.

Papers and utilities slanted down while other sections failed to show a trend.

AT LONDON fear that United Kingdom interest rates will be increased was a dominating influence on the stock market today.

Glitgedged securities were rather depressed and losses were fairly widespread among industrials. Steel shares, however, staged a recovery from an initial fall and were irregular on balance.

There were some rather erratic price movements in oil shares and the leaders were mainly lower on balance.

Gold shares drifted lower under small selling in a market lacking support. Coppers were uncertain and tins appeared easier.

AT VANCOUVER trading was quiet with little change in prices during the forenoon. American Standard moved 3,000 at 9c. Canam-Copper traded 9,000 at 13c. Quatsino sold 1,000 at 14c. Mid West Copper moved 4,000 at 14c. New Hamill traded 5,000 at 4c.

Operating Income Of CNR Shows Drop

Net operating income of Canadian National Railways dropped $5.4 million in October over the same month last year.

The decrease represents almost the difference between operating expenses between October, 1959, and October, 1958.

The company had operating revenues of $62,632,000 and expenses of $62,336,000 for an income of $296,000. Last year for the same month CNR had revenues of $62,944,000 and expenses of $57,253,000 for an income of $5,691,000.

In the first 10 months of 1959 the line has a deficit of $1,327,000 compared with a 1958 deficit of $1,316,000.

PORTABLE GAS STATION TO OPERATE IN CANADA

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's first plant-manufactured portable gasoline service station will be installed at Long Branch, Ont., around the middle of month, C. C. Dunn, vice-president of Texaco Canada Ltd., said today.

The station can operate within 48 hours after assembly on a site and can be jacked off its foundation within two hours if the need to relocate it arises.

The first station, 48 by 28 feet in size, will have porcelain finish on the front and two sides and an aluminum rear wall. It will weigh 16 tons. It includes a salesroom, rest rooms, a storage area and service station bays.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was on the slow side today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Exporters and shippers were responsible for some activity in flax. Small shipments were reported for Japan and the United Kingdom. Prices scored moderate advances in early trading but a selling tendency appeared later on advances.

There were no reports of overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were 1/4 lower than Wednesday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures were mostly on the weak side today in dealings on the board of trade.

Rye was firm but other grains and soybeans came under light to moderate selling pressure.

Trade in the wheat pit included a good volume of swapping off the nearby month for the March delivery and beyond.

Man Dies in Fire, Wife Saved

William Armstrong, 45-year-old Canadian Army veteran, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital late last night after being dragged from a burning two-storey frame house at 1814 Quadra.

He had apparently knocked over an oil heater in the front room of the house and police said an inquest will be held.

His wife, Pauline, was rescued from the building by Able Seaman Henry Oshaneck, 22, HMCS Naden, assisted by two civilians, and rushed to the hospital where she was said to be in satisfactory condition today.

The rescue was effected a few minutes before firemen arrived. As she was dragged out of the blazing building, Mrs. Armstrong was sobbing and crying.

"Bill kicked over the stove ... he's in there."

SOAKED IN OIL

Bill Armstrong, a logging truck driver and popular member of the Canadian Legion in Victoria, was rushed to hospital minutes after firemen dragged him from the building around 10:30 p.m.

His clothes were soaked in oil and he died an hour later.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who lived at the nearby Balmoral Apartments, 820 Balmoral, were visitors at the Quadra Street house when it caught fire.

James Carlin, part-owner of the house, had left them there while he visited Victoria Curling Rink. He returned to find the house in flames.

Able Seaman Oshaneck, stationed at the RCN Technical School, HMCS Naden, was commended today by police and firemen for his courage and presence of mind in entering the blazing house and rescuing Mrs. Armstrong.

NAVY COURSE HELPED

By coincidence, he is taking a course in fire control at the RCN school and it was this, he said, that enabled him to recognize an oil fire.

Off-duty and in civilian clothes, he was driving past the house in his car when he saw the flames. He grabbed a flashlight from the glove compartment and rushed to the rear door of the house.

"Two civilians ran after me ... I heard a woman shouting. We crashed in through the back door and saw Mrs. Armstrong lying on the floor a short distance away."

"Farther down the hall I saw a man's arm sticking out from a doorway but knew we couldn't get to him. There was a wall of flame in between."

"So I grabbed Mrs. Armstrong under the arms and the two civilians helped me carry her out of the building to a safe corner of the garden. She was moaning and crying about the stove and her husband."

"Just then the fire brigade

arrived. I shouted for an inhalator and told them there was a man inside the house. They took over from there."

Mrs. Armstrong was given artificial respiration and oxygen before being rushed to hospital.

Having done his job, Able Seaman Oshaneck returned to his car and drove quietly away without telling anyone of his heroism, and the two civilians also disappeared.

They are still unidentified, but Able Seaman Oshaneck was traced to the RCN Technical School this morning. When a senior officer asked him about the rescue, he just shrugged his shoulders and said:

"Oh yes, I helped pull her out."

He is a native of Yorkton, Saskatchewan, who joined the RCN four years ago.

The house on Quadra Street was a blackened ruin today and the oil stove which apparently caused the fire still lay on its side in the charred living room.

Carlin, who shares ownership of the house with his sister, Mrs. Helen Hutchison of 1615 Myrtle, was grief-stricken over the death of William Armstrong.

"My mother, Mrs. Mary Carlin, died in this same house less than three months ago. Now Bill has gone. It is terrible. He was a nice chap—a good chap. We had been friends for a long time."

'AWFUL SHOCK'

"He and his wife used to visit me often. They had no children and liked to come round for a drink and a chat. I left them in the living room about 9 p.m. when I went to the curling rink."

"When I came home there were firemen all over the house fighting the blaze. It was an awful shock to me."

Mr. Carlin said Bill Armstrong fought with the Canadian Army in Italy during the war and had been under treatment at the Veterans' Hospital in Victoria.

"I think he had had malaria at one time," Mr. Carlin said, "as he used to be overcome with fits of drowsiness." His family lived in Calgary.

The apartment where Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong lived at 820 Balmoral was just as they left it when they went to Mr. Carlin's house.

A half-smoked pipe lay on the kitchen table and cups and plates were laid out in readiness for a meal.

City Rattled, Riled By U.S. Jets' Boom

Houses Shaken; Explosion Feared

A super-sonic boom, believed caused by a U.S. Air Force jet, startled hundreds of Victorians shortly after 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and continues to have repercussions today.

Many citizens—including Mayor Percy Scurrah—are protesting against aircraft breaking the sound barrier over a city.

Some believe the air force should issue warnings before carrying out exercises over cities or towns.

The mayor today protested to Defence Minister George Pearkes.

The "boom"—a low rumble followed by a sharp roar—rattled windows, shook frame houses, sent scores rushing to the streets to see if an explosion had taken place.

JETS OVERHEAD

The whine of jet engines could be heard overhead.

A USAF public relations officer at McChord air force base, near Tacoma, said today four F-102A jets were in the area shortly after 7 p.m.

He said they are part of the NORAD (North American Air Defence Command) fighter force, which is on a 24-hour alert.

"The pilots are instructed not to exceed the speed of sound, nor to fly lower than 30,000 feet within 20 miles of inhabited areas," he said.

"The jets Wednesday night were supposed to be flying at 32,000 feet, and at 670 miles per hour."

"This is very close to the speed of sound at that altitude."

SLIP THROUGH

"It is quite easy for a plane of that type to slip through the sound barrier without the pilot being aware of it. Pilots are instructed to report when they have broken the sound barrier, and no such report has been made."

"But it is very likely the 'explosion' over Victoria was caused by one of the jets. As the pilots put it: 'when you're on the mach (Mach I is the speed of sound) it is difficult to avoid slipping through.'"

WARNING 'IMPOSSIBLE'

An RCAF spokesman said it was "physically impossible" to issue advance warnings of fighter activities over B.C.

"The NORAD fighters are on round-the-clock duty," he said. "They can be ordered up in a practice 'scramble' with no warning, or be sent up on an operational mission, such as checking out an unidentified aircraft, also without warning."

"We do issue warnings in the case of formal bomber exercises, planned well in advance, but this is impossible in the case of unscheduled fighter activities."

Switchboards at newspaper, radio stations, and defence establishments were swamped with calls from startled citizens for a half hour after the "boom." A duty officer at the RCAF Search and Rescue centre at Sea Island said "If it's a jet, it's not one of ours. Try McChord base, it may be one of theirs."

The Times legislative reporter was at the Parliament Buildings when the blast came. The night watchman got calls saying it sounded as if it came from the buildings. The reporter and the watchman toured the buildings, thinking a safe may have been blown open.

THOUGHT IT WAS GAS

One resident near Gonzales said: "I rushed down to the basement. I thought our boiler had blown up."

Another in the Uplands area said: "I thought it was a gas main explosion a couple of blocks away."

Some people who rushed outdoors said they heard the sound of an aircraft "zooming" just after the blast and decided themselves it must be a "sonic" boom.

Sentence Wednesday For Shot-Gun Blast

Langford pensioner Frank McConnell, 73, who nearly shot a Mountie investigating a reported robbery last weekend, pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday to possession of sawed-off shotgun.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas remanded him to next Wednesday for probation report and sentence.

Court was told McConnell

EXCAVATION CONTRACT LET FOR NEW COURTHOUSE SITE

A $92,665 contract for excavation of the new Victoria Courthouse was awarded today to Commonwealth Construction Company.

The firm was low bidder when tenders were opened last week. It is expected work will get underway immediately following ground-breaking ceremonies next Wednesday afternoon. About 35,000 cubic yards of rock and earth must be removed for the base of the planned five-storey building. The site is on Cathedral Hill, facing on Burdett St.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant will depress a plunger to explode a small dynamite charge signifying start of the project. Later there will be light refreshments at Cherry Bank Hotel and unveiling of a model of the completed building.

Cabinet Team Here to Discuss Columbia Power

Two federal cabinet ministers were scheduled to arrive at Victoria International Airport at 6 tonight for Columbia River hydro talks Friday with B.C. government officials.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton will represent Ottawa in the talks. There was an unconfirmed report Federal Justice Minister E. Davie-Fulton will be on hand as well.

The Ottawa delegation and their technical assistants will meet all day Friday in closed was caused by a fall on her way home. sessions with B.C. Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Attorney-General Robert Bonner. It will be the second meeting of the group this year in Victoria. The members form a federal-provincial liaison committee in connection with the proposed Columbia development.

Mr. Williston recalled today the agreement in principle reached by U.S. and Canadian members of the International Joint Commission, that Canada would reap 50 per cent of downstream benefits if the development goes ahead.

If Canadian storage dams are constructed, the regulated flow of water would permit a greater electrical energy output at existing U.S. power sites in Washington state.

"One of the main questions to be discussed is determining what the downstream benefits actually will amount to," said Mr. Williston.

Also slated for study are three development plans which have been proposed at the IJC level. Costs would run as high as $1,600,000,000 for complete power development of the river, the minister said.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. W. W. McLuhan will speak on fluoridation.

ASK The TIMES

Q Could you please tell me what the frequently-used expression "Kilroy was here" actually means? M.E.

A The phrase was found written everywhere the American forces had been, particularly the Air Transport Command. Various theories have been forwarded as to its origin, one being that a certain Kilroy was inspector in a shipyard at Quincy, Mass., and wrote the words in chalk on equipment to show he had inspected it. He repeated this everywhere was supposed to be amusing as it was obviously impossible for one Kilroy to be everywhere and do all he did at one and the same time.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to answer questions of legal, medical, or scientific nature. Questions should be submitted to dealers.

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Mrs. Herbert L. Huell, attractive Portland visitor, tells of a remarkable encounter with a man selling tombstones.

The salesman called at her house one afternoon and, in sympathetic tones, asked if she would like to buy a choice tombstone for her husband.

"It's the last thing you can do for him," he said piously.

Fortunately Mrs. Huell has an active sense of humor. "I think you'd better see my husband about that," she smiled. "He'll be home from the office soon ..."

But the salesman was already backing away, raising an apologetic hat. There had been some ghastly mistake ...

I enjoyed the candid comment of Alberto Parlato, a student at the University of Milan, who is returning to Italy after a three-months stay with his brother Carlo in Victoria.

"This is a lovely city," he said in his clipped English, "but I do not think the people are so lovely."

That highly-colored macaw in Beacon Hill Park obviously prefers children to adults.

Several of us tried the "pretty polly" approach the other morning and got the stony eye and the deafening silence.

But when a lively four-year-old addressed him in shrill piping tones, he opened his wicked-looking beak and answered:

"Hello soaks!"

Speaking of birds ... naturalist Alan Poynter of 970 Maddison Avenue tells me the tiny white-breasted rock wren from the Okanagan is still in Victoria.

The wren was first seen in Victoria on Thanksgiving Day.

It has since been spotted at Cattle Point.

Overheard in a bus:

"For 20 years my wife and I were completely happy ... Then we met."

Up-Island Boy Picked To Play In Rose Parade

James Robert Ballard, 16-year-old Alberni High School tuba player, was today chosen to play with the famous Robin Hood Band in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl parade at Pasadena, California.

He will be the only Vancouver Island instrumentalist in the 100-member Robin Hood Band sponsored by the Independent Order of Foresters.

H. F. Williams, Island organizer for the Foresters, left for Port Alberni this morning to interview Ballard and arrange for his trip to California.

"We are greatly honored that a Vancouver Island boy should have been picked for this honor," Mr. Williams said.

SEVEN CANDIDATES

Ballard was one of seven Vancouver Island high school instrumentalists selected from 17 who were auditioned at Oak Bay Junior High School last Nov. 4.

The seven were recorded here on tapes which were then sent to Hollywood for selection.

James Ballard and Richard Norman Adams, Victoria High School drummer, were considered to have the best chance of being selected for the Robin Hood Band.

Stole Stealer Sent to Jail For 5 Months

A man who stole an $895 mink fur and ran from Hudson's Bay Co. store Nov. 25 was sentenced in city police court today to five months in jail.

John Kirk, about 45, of 919 1/2 Pandora, previously pleaded guilty to theft and was remanded to today for probation report and sentence by Magistrate William Ostler.

The court found the report "very depressing."

"In many ways you are an object of pity. You have lost a battle against alcoholism. You have ruined your life, lost your wife, children and a home ..."

Mr. Ostler noted it was Kirk's first offence and reasoned "no doubt alcohol has contributed a large measure to your difficulty."

INEVITABLE RESULT

"It is almost inevitable the end result of this type of alcoholism."

"The best thing I can do for you is to give you a period of imprisonment in the hope that you can get the alcohol out of your system."

"That's the only hope for you, or else you will kill yourself with alcohol or spend the rest of your life in prison."

Kirk thanked the court as he stepped from the prisoner's box back into jail.

City businessman and ex-candidate for city council, William A. Scott, faces a charge of possessing the stolen fur, to which he has not pleaded. He was remanded to

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City finance committee today recommended acceptance of a $9,500 offer for a sixth house moved from the main firehall site and renovated this summer. If the sale goes through, it will leave only one more of the relocated houses to be sold.

Saanich council will be asked if it objects to sale of a small city lot on the Patricia Bay Highway, opposite Elk Lake, for a provincial weigh scale site. City Finance committee, approached by the provincial government for the property, noted that it was very close to the Church-by-the-Lake and several residences.

A former petty officer, Robert Douglas Crockett, 3162 Fifth St., has been promoted to the rank of acting commissioned stores officer, and appointed to the destroyer escort HMCS Assiniboine, the navy announced today.

Shoppers Special Bus Starts Friday

Victoria's first "shopper's special" bus service will get an official sendoff Friday at 30 a.m. from Mayor Percy Scurrah, business leaders and press, radio and television representatives.

After a brief ceremony in front of city hall, dignitaries will board the bus for the first trip. The bus will loop Douglas, Courtney, Government and Herald streets on a 12-minute service. Fare is five cents. Sporting a Christmas motif, the bus will run daily from 10 to 4 (and until 9 p.m. Fridays) until Dec. 24.

A 13-year-old Saanich boy, scalded while making lunch at home Wednesday noon, was treated at hospital for an extensive leg burn.

Jimmy Birtwhistle, 665 Baxter, was reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was taken by Saanich police ambulance at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said the boy spilled hot soup from hip to ankle of his left leg.

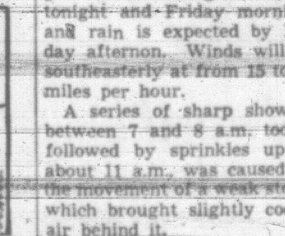

December meeting of Macaulay School PTA will be held in the school auditorium next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Herb Bate Ltd., contractor of 1314 Broad, was fined $10 and ordered to pay a $30 licence fee in city police court today when the owner pleaded guilty to a charge of operating without a city licence.

Eighteen-year-old Earl Wayne Sharpe, HMCS Naden, was fined $15 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having in his possession 16 bottles of beer.

The Fownhope Social Club will meet at 18 Wellington Street Friday at 8 p.m. Formation of a bowling team will be discussed.

The CPR announced today that effective Dec. 13 the Princess of Vancouver sailings from Vancouver will be advanced 30 minutes with departures at 5:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., arriving Nanaimo 2 hours 45 minutes later. This schedule change will see the Vancouver leave Nanaimo daily at 1 a.m., 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

TRAGEDY ON RIVIERA

Rescue worker carries a child through muddy wreckage in French village of Frejus today after Riviera valley was smashed by giant wave when dam collapsed behind weight of flood waters. (AP Wirephoto)

FLOOD DEVASTATES AREA

Toll Nears 300 In Dam Disaster

FREJUS, France (Reuters) — The death toll in one of Europe's worst flood disasters was set officially at 270 late today as rescue workers continued to recover bodies from the muddy devastation of this Riviera town.

Official figures issued in Paris said there also were 60 injured and about 50 missing. Millions of tons of water, banked up behind the 185-foot Malpasset dam by five days of heavy rain, churned into the peacefully sleeping farm valley Wednesday night, tearing away houses, hurling big trucks about like toys, uprooting trees, splintering telegraph and telephone poles and cutting all communications with the outside.

Not until the sombre dawn, hours after the Malpasset dam burst, was the full tragedy apparent. The narrow valley 16 miles southwest of Cannes was a jumbled heap of twisted wreckage. The rampaging waters partially flooded this town of 13,500, nestling on the hilly, rocky coast—one of the landing spots in the Allied invasion of southern France in August, 1944.

Frejus, originally founded by Julius Caesar in 49 B.C., is a quiet country place set against a background of the tangled foothills of the Alps. It is seldom visited by tourists.

'I'm Afraid Only Rocks Will Be Left'

"The valley was one of the richest on the coast," a member of the Frejus city council said. "I'm afraid only rocks will be left."

The French government mobilized disaster forces and rushed the aircraft carrier Lafayette to the scene to serve as a floating hospital and helicopter base off the coast.

Authorities invoked an emergency "calamity plan" allowing the requisitioning of all available means for relief and rescue work in the area. Troops, police and firemen rushed here from a wide area to carry out rescue work.

Terrified families were swept downstream, struggling to stay together. Many had just gone to bed when the flood struck. One 85-year-old woman floated seven hours on her bedroom dresser.

A doctor at Frejus hospital said the torrent "was worse than any tidal wave—the water surged over houses, pulverizing them."

Agonized Cries Heard During Night

Agonized cries for help were heard throughout the night, but no help was immediately available for the villages upstream.

It took many hours to get the first rescue teams there.

Airliner Crashes

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A four-engine Brazilian airliner, with 38 passengers aboard crashed 20 minutes before landing today at Belem, near the mouth of the Amazon. First reports made no mention of casualties.

6-Year Jail Term

TORONTO (CP)—Mining promoter Albert Gould, 43, today was sentenced to six years in penitentiary for defrauding the treasury of Cabanga Developments Ltd. of $456,000. He was convicted Monday after a five-week trial.

If we'd git rid o' th' soreheads we wouldn't need warheads.

TRUCK SKIDS INTO BUS, 3 GIRLS DIE

ROLPHOTON, Ont. (UPI)—Three girls were crushed to death today when a jack-knifing tractor-trailer swept across a slush-covered highway and plowed them against a school bus.

Police said the girls had just left the bus and were about to cross Highway 17 to enter the Meilleurs Bay schoolhouse when the truck driver spotted the stopped vehicle. He tried to stop his heavy truck, but it banged into the rear of the bus and then toppled onto the girls who were standing nearby.

The victims were Sheila and April Dakin, aged nine and six respectively, and nine-year-old Mildred Elliott, all of Chalk River, Ont.

Atom Arms For RCAF, RCN Seen

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Pearkes today confirmed that negotiations aimed at arming the Royal Canadian Navy and RCAF with atomic depth charges now are under way in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He told reporters after a cabinet meeting that the whole question of supplying Canada's armed forces with atomic warheads was discussed by the Canada-U.S. cabinet defence committee at Camp David, Md., last month.

Asked whether the atomic depth charges might be located at a U.S. base such as Argentina, Nfld., Mr. Pearkes said it is too early to say where the weapons will be kept.

STILL UNDER DISCUSSION

He also said that such details as whether an American officer would be attached to a Canadian warship to effect U.S. custody of American nuclear warheads "were still under discussion."

Admiral Jerauld Wright of the U.S. Navy, Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic, said recently that "atomic depth charges are available to NATO forces."

Informants said plans are being worked out whereby these weapons will be supplied to the RCN, and RCAF for submarine killing.

They could give no indication, however, when the navy and air force would actually get the atomic depth charges.

These negotiations in NATO are concurrent with those between Canada and the United States for the storing of nuclear warheads in this country for defensive use in the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile.

Authorities indicated that the atomic depth charges would be retained in the U.S. for ports and bases where they could be picked up quickly by destroyers or by RCN and RCAF anti-submarine planes.

The U.S. Navy has an air-dropped atomic depth charge known as Lulu which has a killing range of miles instead of yards as with the conventional depth charge. The RCN and RCAF were given information on Lulu as long ago as 1956.

Macmillan Files In Final Minutes

Victoria voters next week will have three choices in selecting a mayor.

Robert Macmillan, 38-year-old motel and restaurant operator, made the mayoralty a three-cornered race by filing nomination papers minutes before the deadline today.

A six-year-old veteran on city council who was defeated in 1955, he puts himself in the running against Mayor Percy Scourah and Victoria MLA J. Donald Smith, also an ex-alderman.

All other announced candidates were nominated before the deadline and a newcomer entered his name to prevent an acclamation election of two school trustees.

FAILS TO FILE

Mrs. Yvette Semeyn, 3125 Uplands, an auburn-haired widow, failed to file papers which would have made the mayoralty a four-way race. She had taken out the papers this morning.

Mr. Macmillan said he entered the mayoralty contest because he couldn't conscientiously vote for either of the other hopefuls and could not persuade anyone else to run.

"I waited until the very last to see if anyone I could support would come forward. Nobody did, so I felt I had to," he said.

"I don't care about the other two candidates' personalities and I'm sure most voters don't either. I'm sure that other things are at stake for the voters in this election."

"First and foremost, the question for all of us is: Can I pay my taxes and will I be able to continue to pay them?"

POLICY

Mr. Macmillan said the city's assets are being "completely depleted and I would substitute a 'save-as-you-go' policy for the present 'pay-as-you-go' attitude."

He said "his would be accomplished by investing some of the proceeds from present land sales into a special capital development fund."

He said he would also plough the annual $25,000 insurance premiums paid by the city into this fund and arrange for the city to carry its own insurance.

"In time, this would mean that instead of landing up with nothing when all the city land has gone, we could have this fund as a continuing cash asset."

"We could budget and stabilize our tax rate and even predict what it would be despite factors such as wage increases. In time, we might not only be able to say taxes will hold the line but that they may actually decrease."

David Logan, 2666 Chambers, a civil engineer, was the only other late entry. He filed nomination papers for the school trustee election, ensuring a poll for the two seats at stake.

Present trustees Kenneth Leeming and Alan H. Wilson filed their papers earlier.

Twelve candidates filed for the four aldermanic seats. They were: for re-election, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Ald. M. H. Mooney, Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot.

Seeking to unseat these are: Very Rev. Dr. J. Lewis McLean, Mrs. Sally Rogers, James A. Dinsmore, Elgin Neish, Victor William, Alan Bigelow, Bruce Passmore, and John D. Carlow.

Airmen Rebel

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI)—A small group of air force officers declared themselves in a "state of insurrection" today and called on the rest of the armed forces to oust the government of President Juscelino Kubitschek.

The dissident group stole three air force planes from Rio Janeiro and hijacked a civilian airliner with 38 passengers aboard and forced it to land north of the Amazon.

Most of the rebellious group were arrested as the government put the army on full alert and reacted swiftly.

TARGET $15,000

Korea Campaign Kickoff Tonight

There are 50,000 war-mutilated children in Korea.

Helping these forgotten youngsters is the United Nations Service Committee, a non-denominational organization dedicated to world betterment at the "performance" level.

Tonight at 8, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, USC executive director, addresses a public gathering in Oak Bay Junior High School.

This will be the start of the annual appeal through The Times on behalf of vital USC work in foreign countries.

Objective is $15,000, from Greater Victoria for construction of a rehabilitation centre in Seoul, Korea, for war-crippled children.

Handicraft work of the 150 disabled children in the Sam Yook home will be shown at the meeting.

Dr. Hitschmanova's address will be entitled "The Magic Keys" and she will also show a film she took herself in Korea and India dealing with refugee work.

Manager-coach Bud Poile of Flyers said today he has ordered Riggin to wear a plastic mask which he has donned in practice sessions.

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Wheat Demand Grows Rapidly

This is the fifth in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

For western Canadian farmers the largest commercial fact in Japan is that 10 million school children eat a free lunch every day and it always includes a generous chunk of bread made from Canadian wheat.

Those youngsters, besides millions of adults, have acquired a taste for bread in place of rice, Japan's traditional basic food. As they grow up they will continue to eat bread and feed it to their children.

While rice will remain a basic food, the market for Canadian wheat in Japan, already large, will continue to grow—provided Canada buys abundantly from

Japan and gives it a fair chance to earn Canadian dollars.

In the first nine months of this year Japan, our second wheat market, next to Britain, paid $51.5 million in Canadian dollars. Of the $130 million worth of products we expect to sell in Japan by the year's end about half will be wheat.

Adding flour, seeds of various kinds, cattle hides, grease and tallow, our agricultural sales to Japan in the first three quarters of the year totalled about $70 million.

Sonic Blast Irritates Officials

(See Story, Page 21)

Mayor Percy Scourah and Police Chief John Blackstock today took strong exception to the super sonic explosion Wednesday night believed caused by U.S. jet aircraft.

Mayor Percy Scourah said he would protest to Defence Minister George Pearkes. He received an irate letter this morning from a patient at the Veterans' Hospital.

"I certainly will make a protest to Defence Minister Pearkes to see if this can be prevented in future," he said.

"There's lots of country or ocean that they could fly over instead of our cities."

"Travelling at about 11 miles a minute, it would only take them seconds to veer over water in order to avoid this city," the mayor said.

The letter to the mayor was from two-war veteran T. Anderson, who said there was "no valid reason" for American aircraft, breaking the sound barrier over Canadian cities.

"I'm still shaking," he wrote. Chief Blackstock thinks police should be warned in advance of proposed jet plane exercises over Victoria.

He said prior notification would assist police in handling inquiries and ease their minds.

Wednesday night's sonic boom resulted in a deluge of queries at the police station, tying up three telephone lines for about a half hour.

Chief Blackstock said he himself was unable to get through to the police charge office for 15 minutes.

He cautioned citizens to refrain from telephoning the police station immediately after hearing such an explosion.

"In a real emergency the police would be swamped, unable to get distress calls or call out for additional men to handle a situation," he said.

TEAMSTERS TO IGNORE MOST PICKET LINES

CHICAGO (AP)—James R. Hoffa says teamsters union members in the future will ignore with one exception—all picket lines set up by other unions.

"All teamsters locals will have orders," Hoffa, teamsters president, told reporters Wednesday, "to drive through recognition, organizational and primary picket lines."

"The teamsters will make an exception on primary picket lines if the striking union will guarantee the teamsters against any possible loss through lawsuits, government action or any other expense incurred by the teamsters."

A primary strike is one called by a union recognized under law as the collective bargaining agent for workers at a specified company.

2 PLANES COULD MAKE ALASKA BASES USELESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of Alaska's defense was quoted today as saying that "if things now stand, it would take only two enemy bombers to put Alaskan bases out of action."

Flying Magazine, a trade publication, quoted Lt. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr., commander of Alaska's joint services defense force, as adding: "If these attacks were followed up with paratroop landings, Alaska itself would be lost."

"With Russians in the Fairbanks and Anchorage areas, President Eisenhower would have to decide quickly whether to bomb Alaska or leave the rest of the country open to close-range attack from Red troops along the Yukon."

Peace Power Blueprint Running to 9 Volumes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nine hefty volumes of plans began rolling off the printing presses today in prelude to what could become the greatest industrial development in British Columbia's history.

The plans are for the $611,000,000 projected power development on the mighty Peace River, which finds its source some 600 miles northeast of here.

If the government signals approval, the rich Rocky Mountain Trench area north of Prince George will become the site of the biggest single hydro power installation in the world.

A dam 600 feet high and more than one mile long to cost an estimated $375,000,000 will create a lake 200 miles long. About 4,200,000 horsepower will be harnessed to surge through the province's power lines and future developments could boost the output as high as 8,000,000 horsepower.

DIRECTORS APPROVE

Sir Andrew MacTaggart, chairman of the directors of Peace River Power Development Company, Ltd., which Wednesday gave final approval to the plans, said that if government approval is received the company could go ahead in 1960.

Sir Andrew said the plans are being printed and will be handed to the government within two weeks.

Prerequisites to the construction start are approval by the B.C. water rights board, the public utilities commission and the cabinet.

Indications the water rights board has been carefully priming itself to deal with the complex plans are already obvious.

Deputy water controller Walter Raudsepp left for Eastern Canada earlier this week to confer with power authorities on use of high voltage long-distance power transmission, and an internationally known dam construction expert, Donald Blayfuss, has been commissioned to assist in the assessing of plans.

Other development plans for the area of the Peace River, which flows east through northern B.C. before emptying into Alberta's Lake Athabasca, also are being formulated.

Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co., an associate company of the Peace River Power, is nearing completion of railway, forest and mineral studies. Possible start next year on a railway in the area has been indicated, which would open up the Peace River's mineral and forestry wealth.

The power plans call for initial construction of the 600-foot dam to serve a surface area of 900,000 square miles. It would be capable of storing six times the amount of water which the United States' Grand Coulee Dam holds.

Second phase entails a 150-foot high dam a few miles downstream. Power houses would be located beside both.

A high-voltage transmission line would carry the power to Greater Vancouver via Prince George, Quesnel, Williams Lake and the Fraser Valley. It would service north central B.C., the southern coast and Fraser Valley and possibly Kamloops and the Okanagan Valley.

U.S. SEIZES CUBA BOMBERS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Five Cubans face federal prosecution for attempting a flight, possibly over their homeland, with home-made bombs. They were seized lugging three bombs from an automobile to an airplane on a seldom-used airstrip south of Miami Sunday.

Customs supervising agent Joseph A. Fortier said the bombs totalling 96 pounds contained a nitroglycerine compound which had begun to leak in their containers, and had reached a critically dangerous stage.

Reds Oppose A-Blast Test Of Controls

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia today opposed setting off any further nuclear explosions, even to test effectiveness of a control and detection system that might be set up under a proposed ban on hydrogen and atomic bomb tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin raised the objection at today's nuclear conference session to U.S. draft article on the role of the administration of the seven nation control commission which will police a

The U.S. version gave the administration the right with U.S., British and Soviet approval to order new nuclear explosions and a research and development program to test the complicated police system in the light of improved scientific findings.

Phony Art Masterpiece Ring Broken

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police broke up what was described as one of the biggest fake masterpiece rackets in the nation's history today by arresting two Russian-born art dealers and seizing 400 paintings with signatures ranging from Rembrandt to Picasso.

The arrested men, Boris Lass, 64, and his brother, Mark, 61, claimed the collection was gathered by their mother before the Russian revolution and had a current value of $25,000,000. Experts from the Metropolitan and Modern Art Museums called in by District Attorney Frank Hogan said they were fakes, apparently the work of students imitating old and modern masters.

The Lassses, proprietors of the Remi Gallery in the heart of the Madison Avenue gallery district, were charged in a 25-count indictment with attempted grand larceny, counterfeiting labels, and false and misleading advertising. Authorities said they did not know how many "masterpieces" the men had been able to sell.

CATTLE KILLED

CHILLIWACK—Fire destroyed a barn at the nearby Columbia Valley farm of E. Jannick, killing 17 cows. Cause of the blaze was not known. Neighbors fought unsuccessfully to save the livestock.
